RUSSIA AND EUROPE.

EXCITEMENT SUBSIDING.

LONDON, November 18.—The feeling in financial circles is somewhat quieter. The Times remarks that Russia has placed herself in the position of a public enemy.

WHAT RUSSIA COMPLAINS OF.

It is said that the particular revolutions of the Paris treaty of 1856 which Russia has complained of, are as follows: The cruise of the Prince of Wales in the Black Sea in an English frigate. A similar trip subsequently by Lord Bulwer Lytton. The appearance of an Austrian squadron at Varna, a Turkish city on the Black Sea, when the Emperor of Austria was there; and lastly, the voyage of the Sultan in a Turkish frigate. The Russian Envoy at Constantinople protested against this latter circumstance at the time, but ineffectually.

AUSTRIA ALREADY MOVING.

It is rumored that the Austrian Government has ordered the departure of a large number of troops to the Turkish frontier, in order that that country will be made ready to co-operate with the other powers in the event of the breaking out of hostilities. The rumors come here thick and fast, but the general impression is that nothing can avert a war.

AS DESPOTIC AS NICHOLAS.

St. Petersburg letters report much discontent in consequence of the suppression by the Czar of the newspapers on account of their political opinions. Alexander seems to be growing as despotic as Nicholas.

RUSSIA'S COURSE COMPELS COMMON COURSE OF ACTION.

LONDON, November 18.—A well informed correspondent, writing from Vienna, says: If Russia's desire for a revision of the Paris treaty of 1856 had been submitted to the other signers a favorable result might have ensued. Its course, however, that Russia has seen fit to take creates a grave situation, shaking all the settled statutes of European policy and compelling a common course of action to resist her demands.

BEUST HAS NOT RESIGNED.

VIENNA, Nov. 18.—The rumor of the resignation of Beust is discredited by the official journals, which pronounce the story on which the rumor is based wholly untrue.

WAR FEELING IN HUNGARY.

PESTH, Nov. 18.—The opposition in the Hungarian district continues to urge a decided course in the Government on the matter of the Russian demand.

IDENTICAL NOTES.

VIENNA, November 18.—The Free Press confirms the identity of the English and Austrian notes to the Russian Emperor.

[Special to N. Y. World.]

THE CRISIS IN THE BRITISH CABINET.

LONDON, November 18.—Notwithstanding the momentary and somewhat forced unanimity existing in the Cabinet upon the Russian question, it is known that unanimity exists only in theory. It is thought that Russia will not proceed to enforce her claims, but that upon finding England, Austria, Italy and France resolute she will submit the matter to arbitration and not engage in war. Should this expectation prove delusive, the peaceful party in the Cabinet will insist on England abstaining from all war measures. The consequence will be either the resignation of a portion of the Cabinet or a complete change of the Government. Reports to-night indicate the summoning of Parliament for next week.

SCARE ABOUT THE ALABAMA CLAIMS—UNITED STATES SUPPOSED TO BE IN LEAGUE WITH RUSSIA.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A dispatch from Mr. Fish to Mr. Moran, concerning the Alabama claims, arrived to-day. Lord Granville being out of town, the dispatch could not be communicated to him. The contents are, up to this moment, unknown to the public. In circles where the arrival of the dispatch is known, great consternation and excitement prevails, as it is assumed that Russia and the United States have a secret understanding.

THE DIVISION IN THE ENGLISH CABINET—A SPLIT IMMINENT.

The New York World correspondent telegraphs from London that Odo Russell was sent to Versailles to ask Bismarck categorically if he would acquiesce at once, and unconditionally, in the rejection of Russia's pretensions. The war party of the Cabinet propose, should Bismarck's answer be either negative or hesitating and disingenuous, to inform Russia she must choose between the withdrawal of her claims and war; but the peace party of the Cabinet suppose Bismarck, without committing himself further, will propose a congress of all the powers to discuss and decide upon the modification of the Treaty of 1856. The peace party are determined to do all that is possible to induce the Government to assent to this arrangement, while the war party are equally resolved to adhere to their position. A split is imminent.

It was a member of the peace party of the Government who informed your correspondent, on the 16th, that the administration would finally yield to Russia's demands, since she asked no more than her rights.

John Bright's health is still impaired, and he will resign, provided the war party of the Cabinet prevails.

Odo Russell has not yet reached Versailles, but is expected there to-night.

Vernon Harcourt is appointed to succeed Sir Colman O'Loghlen as Judge Advocate General.

The diplomats all claim to have known that the demands of Russia would be made sooner or later.

Such public opinion as there is in Russia is represented to be in favor of peace.

English officers are volunteering for service in the Turkish army.

WITH PEACEFUL INTENTIONS.

It is stated that when the Russian Minister at Vienna communicated Gortschakoff's note to Beust, he accompanied it with assurances of most peaceful intentions on the part of his government.

SPECULATIONS OF THE PRESS.

The Pall Mall Gazette, referring to Odo Russell's special mission to Versailles, believes that the Under Secretary will return within twenty-four hours with a disavowal on the part of Prussia of sympathy with Russia's pretensions, or [illegible]

PRUSSIA'S (OR BISMARCK'S) REPLY IN THE RUSSIAN QUESTION.

LONDON, November 18.—I have authority for stating that telegraphic dispatches have been received by the Government indicating the position taken by Prussia in regard to the Russian question. [illegible]

[N. Y. Herald Special.]

THE SITUATION IN VIENNA—[illegible]

VIENNA, Nov. 18.—While great excitement has been created here by the Russian question, the feeling decidedly is not warlike. [illegible]

armistice between Prussia and France was really his own, he refrained from proposing it, and pushed on England to take the initiative. His action in the present Russian complication is [illegible] for the same reason. He fears to make any step, lest he excite the enmity of Prussia, and is anxious to resign. The general belief is that the Russian movement is really a demonstration only intended to work in the interests of Prussia, in order that the outside world may have something else to watch besides the operations of Prussia in France. It is believed that public opinion in Europe now alone delays the bombardment of Paris. While little doubt is entertained of eventual trouble through the Eastern question, it is not believed that the present imbroglio will lead to war. The note in reply to Gortschakoff's letter is conciliatory and expresses satisfaction at the peaceful declaration of Russia.

GORTSCHAKOFF'S DISPATCH TO BARON BRUNNOW.

The following is the dispatch of Prince Gortschakoff to Baron Brunnow, communicated to Brunnow by Earl Granville on the 9th of November:

TZARKOE SELO, October 20.—Baron: In making the communication to the principal Secretary of State of her Brittanic Majesty, [illegible] to you by order of his Majesty the Emperor, you will be good enough to make the import or object clear. When at the commencement of the year 1868 a conference was talked of for the purpose of preventing the war then imminent in Germany, by the assembling of a Congress, in discussing the basis of it with Earl Russell you were able to point out to him the compensations and the guarantees which, by certain eventualities of nature, made by the status quo existing in the East, would be rendered necessary to Russia. This was recognized by Earl Russell with the utmost fairness. He did not deny that every alteration affecting the spirit of the treaty of 1856 must lead to a revision of that document. Although these eventualities did not come, Lord Granville will not deny that the treaty has suffered grave modifications in one of the essential parts. What can but impress Russia in this is, not that the hostile tendency towards her of which they bear the stamp; it is not the consequences that may result to a great country from the establishment on her frontier of small, quasi independent States; it is, above all, the facility with which, ten years after the conclusion of a solemn transaction, invested with European guarantee, can be infringed in spirit, under the eyes of the very powers which ought to be its guardians.

In the presence of such a precedent, what value can Russia attach to the efficiency of the agreement, and to the guarantee of security that she believed she had found in the principle of the neutralization of the Black Sea? The equilibrium established in the East therefore is destroyed, to the detriment of Russia, and the resolution taken by our august master is to reestablish it.

Her Brittanic Majesty's Government would never consent to leave the security of its coasts to the mercy of an agreement which is no longer respected, and it is too just not to recognize that we have the same duties and the same rights.

But what we especially desire to establish is, that this decision makes no change in the policy His Majesty, the Emperor, follows in the East. You have several times already been made to enter into explanations with the Cabinet at London upon the general views the two governments hold upon this very important question, and to point out a conformity of principles and of interests, which we have noted with much satisfaction. We have deduced, therefore, that it is neither from England, nor from Russia, that dangers can come which could threaten the Ottoman Empire, that the two Cabinets have an equal desire to maintain its existence as long as possible by the settlement and conciliation of the differences between the Porte and the Christian subjects of the Sultan, and that in case a decisive crisis should occur notwithstanding these efforts, both are equally resolved to ask the solution, above all, in a general agreement of the Great Powers of Europe.

We have not ceased to entertain these views. We believe that their complete analogy renders no serious understanding possible between her Brittanic Majesty's government and ours. We attach the utmost value to it, as the best guarantee for preserving the peace and the equilibrium of Europe from dangers which may result from the complications in the East.

By order of his Majesty, the Emperor, your Excellency is authorized to reiterate his assurance of this to Lord Granville. We shall congratulate ourselves, if frankness of this explanation should contribute to it by removing all possibility of a misunderstanding between her Brittanic Majesty's Government and us. I am &c.,

GORTSCHAKOFF.

PRUSSIA AND THE RUSSIAN QUESTION—BAVARIA WILL JOIN THE GERMAN BUND.

LONDON, November 18.—A telegram dated Berlin, November 17, says:

The Prussian question is viewed here as a matter in which Prussia should decline to meddle. The belief is general that Russia will gain her point. Prussia is apparently in harmony with Russia on the eastern question.

Final arrangements with Bavaria have been completed. Her military position in the German Confederation will be the same as that of Saxony. Wurtemburg will be bound to submit. A significant fact is that in the recent election, even in democratic districts, all the democrats were defeated who had taken ground against the annexation of Alsace and Lorraine.

RUSSIA ALREADY IN THE FIELD.

LONDON, November 18.—A special correspondent of the New York Tribune telegraphs from Berlin: It is stated on diplomatic authority from St. Petersburg that Russia has large bodies of troops massed on the Vistula and further south, and armed vessels built on the Black Sea.

TURKEY ELOQUENTLY PROTESTS.

FLORENCE, Nov. 18.—A dispatch has been received by the Italian Cabinet from Ali Pasha, Turkish Minister of Foreign Affairs, protesting in eloquent terms against Russia's proposed violation of her treaty obligations. Photiades Bey is in close consultation with the foreign envoys here.

[N. Y. Herald Special.]

THE EASTERN GALE AT BERLIN.

FRANKFORT, November 17.—A heavy eastern gale has blown over the Bourse during the last few days. When the Eastern question made its appearance the people were at first startled and afraid of a new war, but by degrees their alarm cooled. When they discovered that in all Government quarters matters were received firmly and indifferently, the universal opinion began to prevail that England alone was in a position to take up the gauntlet, but will never do it, and after writing some spirited notes will allow Russia to treat the treaty of 1856 at her discretion. Even careful financial circles here are disposed to justify Russia in following the example of other powers in disregarding effete provisions of a treaty. Ever since Napoleon proclaimed the treaties of 1815 at an end without being taken to task, other powers felt such a law had been set at naught. Bismarck alone was candid enough at that time to admit openly that thenceforth might would go before right. It is believed here that Prussia has no right to embarass herself with new complications and that the matter will blow over peacefully.

GERMANY AND FRANCE.

CARLYLE'S VIEW OF THE WAR.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Thomas Carlyle writes two columns in small type to the Times on the war. He shows what France, after an experience of four centuries, is pretty sure to do again when she gets on her feet, and therefore praises the policy pursued by Prussia, which he claims is founded on solid and practical prudence.

NAPOLEON'S PAMPHLET—WHAT IT DEMONSTRATES.

The Berlin press is able to demonstrate from Napoleon's secret correspondence, which was discovered at St. Cloud, that the anti-Prussian war was prepared long before the Hohenzollern incident, and two letters to that purport were found dated in June, a month before the declaration of war.

JACOBY, THE LIBERAL DEFEATED.

BERLIN, November 18.—Dr. Jacoby, recently imprisoned at Loitzen on account of his violent opposition to the Government war measures, was not re-elected to Parliament. His known opposition to the project for the annexation of Alsace and Lorraine to Germany contributed to his defeat.

IMPORTANT FRENCH STRATEGIC MOVEMENT—GEN. PALADINES' FORCES BETWEEN THOSE OF THE DUKE OF MECKLENBURG AND PARIS—ANXIETY CONCERNING BAVARIA.

[Special to N. Y. World.]

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A special telegram from Tours, 17th, has the following:

Gen. Paladines has repeated his strategic movement which secured his late victory at Orleans, and has accomplished another still more important success. While holding the German forces at Tours, by threatening them in front with a force equal to their own, he has swung around his left wing, moving at the same time a whole corps from Chartres along the road leading through Ablis or Bonneville, Anthor and St. Hilaire to Etampes, where the corps paused. By this movement Paladines thrust himself between the Duke of Mecklenburg and Paris, while also encircling the German army on the front, right flank and rear. While this was going on, the Germans, divining danger, commenced to retreat from Toury northward along the road leading to Angerville to a point twelve miles south of Etampes. Some fighting occurred resulting in advantage to the French, who everywhere greatly outnumbered the enemy. Paladines' vanguard is now twenty-two miles due south of Versailles.

The government of Tours has information to the effect that the advance of the army of Prince Frederick Charles only reached Auxerre to-day, a ten days' march from Toury.

A special dispatch from Berlin, dated 17th inst., states that a great meeting was held at Munich on the 13th. An address was voted to the King of Bavaria, expressing anxiety lest Bavaria should refuse to enter the Bund on the same terms with the Southern States and petitioning the King to avoid the danger of the isolation of Bavaria from the rest of Germany, and in order to dissolve the Chamber which was elected under other influence and circumstances.

WAR REPORTS FROM ORLEANS.

LONDON, November 18.—Advices from Orleans to the evening of Monday last say: The Prussians had retired to the northward, beyond Artenay. The French had constructed heavy earthworks in front of the railway junction just outside of Orleans. Ten thousand men had been employed at the work.

The French army under D'Aurelles de Paladines, was massed between Orleans and Artenay.

The Cavalry of the French was being wretchedly managed.

A large number of boats have collected at Orleans to cross the army to the southern bank of the Loire, in case of defeat at the impending battle. The requisition made by the Prussians at Orleans amounted to two hundred thousand pounds sterling.

Some skirmishing had already been reported at the French outposts.

The journals claim the Loire army has lost its opportunity, as Von der Tann is to be speedily reinforced, and that the French failed to push their advantage while in their hands.

The story is discredited that Trochu had established communications with Paladines, but a great battle near Paris is hourly expected.

Overlands specials report King William and Bismarck troubled at the present aspect of affairs, and are more willing to make peace.

FOOD SUPPLY AT PARIS.

A well-known merchant, who quitted Paris October 25th, says the city then had food enough for three months. About one thousand horses are slaughtered daily for the present and future consumption. Americans are extremely popular and the American Sanitary Commission is doing a noble work. A good deal of small pox prevails in the capital. The number of soldiers there are: Regulars 80,000; Garde Mobiles 120,000; Gardes Nationales 250,000, and nearly all are armed with chassepots. The women are making cartridges at the rate of one million daily, and the foundries are turning out field and siege pieces, breech loaders and mitrailleuses very fast.

HAVE NOT FALLEN BACK.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—It is now ascertained that the Prussians in Paladines' front have not retired to Artheney. The Prussians now hold all the strongholds along the line of the Seura mountains.

EARL RUSSELL ON THE SITUATION.

Earl Russell has written a pamphlet on the situation. He proposes joint armed resistance of the powers, if Prussia demands more than Alsace and part of Lorraine, and urges England to form a strong military reserve, based on militia, and to place a strong garrison at Quebec under an able commander.

LONGWY, MONTMEDY, MEZIERES.

The siege of Longwy and Montmedy is inmenent. A sortie from Mezieres had been repulsed by the First Prussian Infantry.

THIRTY MILES FROM PARIS.

A dispatch to the Manchester Guardian says the Army of the Loire yesterday was at Etampes, thirty miles from Paris.

GERMAN SHIP CAPTURED.

The Bremen ship Magdalene, Capt. Wineke, from New York for Bremen, was captured by a French cruiser and taken into Brest.

[N. Y. Herald Cable Special.]

WITH AN IF.

LONDON, November 18.—A telegram dated Berlin 17th, says: If important preparations the Germans are making are successful, Paris is expected to fall in two weeks.

THE FRENCH ARMY OF THE NORTH—A DIVIDED COMMAND—IMPORTANT MOVEMENT ON FOOT—HOPE FOR THE ORLEANISTS.

LONDON, November 18.—A special correspondent of the Herald, writing from Lille, 17th, 9:30 P. M., says: The stupidity of the Provisional Government is making itself seriously felt in this department. At the instance of Gambetta, Tistelin, Commissary General, has been given an equal command with Bourbaki, in order to watch the latter, whose fidelity to the republic is doubted. Every movement and order of Bourbaki must be endorsed by Tistelin before it can be executed. Tistelin is a civilian, and was a member of the Legislature in 1848. He has no military knowledge, and this double command is working mischief. The friends of Bourbaki blame him for remaining in so doubtful a position. Great activity, nevertheless, has been evident in the Army of the North for three days and there is good reason to suppose that a concentration of the forces of this command is about to take place, with the object of marching to the relief of Paris by moving eastward and endeavoring to make a junction with the Army of the Loire between Fontainbleau and Cretil. Gardes Nationales will be left to defend fortified towns.

It is reported the Army of the North numbers 150,000 men, but I can only locate 95,000. Local newspapers are forbidden publishing any military information whatever.

Evidence exists everywhere that a secret hope is entertained by the people that Orleanists will be restored. They believe Count De Paris, at the head of 60,000 men, could march triumphantly through this department and gain everywhere the adhesion of the people.

PARISIANS TIRED OF THE WAR.

LONDON, November 18.—Advices from Paris, via Belgium, represent the citizens, though they see an army coming to their relief, as tired of the war. They condemn the Government for rejecting the armistice, and demand a convocation of the National Assembly.

M. Renan, in the Journal des Debats, writes that in spite of hostilities the delegates can be got together within eight days; and the press and people are urging the authorities to take action to this end.

The Independence Belge objects to keeping in Belgium prisoners who are recovering from wounds.

GERMANS OCCUPY DREUX—HARD FIGHTING GOING ON.

A telegram from Brussels to-day, says: Yesterday a division of Mecklenburg's advanced along the road leading from Handen to Dreux and occupied the latter place, meeting slight resistance from a portion of the French army, who were marching to join the Army of the Loire, from Chartres. Hard fighting is going on along the road from Angerville to Etampes.

TREATIES FOR GERMAN UNITY.

BERLIN, November 18.—The treaty between the North German Confederation and the States of Baden and Hesse has been signed. The treaty with Wurtemburg has been concluded but is not yet signed.

A SUCCESSFUL FRENCH SORTIE.

LILLE, November 18.—The garrison of La Qere made a brilliant sortie and relieved the neighboring town of Lengeuier, which was sorely pressed by the enemy. The besiegers lost several hundred killed, wounded and prisoners. The invaders continue to impress the country people to work on roads and in ditches.

SEVERE FIGHTING REPORTED.

TOURS, Nov. 18—Evening.—The Prussians occupy the heights of Charisy. A severe battle has been going on before Dreux since two o'clock this afternoon; result unknown. Von der Tann occupies a line extending from the Paris and Orleans Railroad to Bennoval. The affair at Arthenay on the 15th was trifling.

KING WILLIAM ANNOUNCES THE REPULSE OF THE FRENCH ALONG THE WHOLE LINE.

VERSAILLES, November 18.—The King to-day telegraphed to Queen Augusta, at Berlin, that the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg yesterday repulsed the enemy along the whole line near Dreux. General Triskow at the same time captured Dreux. Many prisoners were taken and the enemy pursued in the direction of Le Mons.

Other Cable Dispatches.

SPAIN.

AMICABLE SETTLEMENT OF THE KING QUESTION—AOSTA'S ELECTION ACQUIESCED IN.

MADRID, Nov. 18.—A committee consisting of fifteen members of the Constituent Cortes has been appointed to proceed to Florence to present the Spanish Crown to the Duke of Aosta. The election of Aosta is highly popular throughout the provinces. No disorders followed his proclamation, though the government had reason to believe that as the candidature was unpopular in certain quarters there might be demonstrations of disapproval. The services of troops have not been necessary any where. In all the large cities cannon were fired in honor of the event.

Specials say Spain will enter into an alliance with England against Russia and Prussia.

ITALY.

CONGRATULATION OF THE SPANISH KING-ELECT.

FLORENCE, Nov. 18.—The Duke of Aosta arrived yesterday from Naples. He was met with the enthusiastic acclamations of the people. The President of the Council, the Spanish Minister and other notables subsequently called upon and congratulated him.

CHINA.

THE INSTIGATOR OF THE RECENT MASSACRE.

LONDON, November 18.—A dispatch from Macao, November 1st, states that the instigator of the Tien Tsin massacre has been arrested, and will be speedily brought to justice.

MARINE NEWS.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The United States steamer Plymouth has gone to Lisbon.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 18.—The steamer City of Washington, from New York, has arrived.

Important Meeting of Railroad Men.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, November 18.—A party of railroad men representing the St. Joe and Council Bluffs, Pennsylvania Central, Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago, Union Pacific, Pan Handle, and Ohio and Mississippi Railroads, who have been in consultation here for a couple of days past, will leave for St. Louis and Cincinnati to night. Among other things they concluded upon is to open a handsome ticket office in London and the principal cities on the European Continent for the purpose of supplying people returning to or visiting America with tickets over any American road.

Shooting Championship of the United States.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

DETROIT, Nov. 18.—A shooting match for the championship of the United States, and one thousand dollars, between A. H. Bogardus, of Elkhart, Ill., and Ira A. Paine, of New York, took place near this city to-day. The contestants were to shoot at one hundred birds each, one and a quarter ounce shot, snap caps not counted. Bogardus killed sixty-one out of seventy, Paine fifty-five, when it became dark. Paine gave up the match and money. The side bets were declared off. James Ward, Champion of Canada, acted as referee.

Secretary Seward in Japan.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, November 18.—A letter from William H. Seward, dated Inland Sea, October 14th says: We are all well and had a pleasant trip.

Mr. Seward's visit to Japan was the event of the month. He was the guest of Delong at Yokohama, and Sheppard at Yeddo. The first interview ever given a private individual by the Mikado was given Mr. Seward. The only persons present were Delong and Sheppard, acting Secretary of Legation.

WASHINGTON, November 18, 1870.

"BOLTING" IN ALABAMA.

Information received here shows that the loss of the Alabama Legislature was owing to the bolting Republican tickets run in Mobile, Baldwin and Madison counties. In Mobile county five bolters ran independent of the regular nominees, receiving some two hundred votes, just sufficient to defeat the regular candidates, who had about four thousand votes. Had the five regular nominees received the full party vote, the Republicans would have had a majority on joint ballot sufficient to have elected a Senator in Congress to succeed General Warner. The bolt, it is alleged, was under the auspices of the Postmaster and Collector of the Port of Mobile. Hortes, recently appointed Appraiser at Mobile, led the bolting ticket. His commission will probably be revoked.

AS GRATITUDE FOR RENDERED SERVICES.

Hon. J. M. Marvin and Isaiah Blood have inaugurated a movement to raise a fund for the purchase of sets of mathematical and surgical instruments and a library for Gen. Grant, General Sherman and General McClellan, as a token of gratitude from the people of New York for services rendered in the late civil war. The cost of the instruments and library is estimated at $225,000. Already $15,000 have been raised for McClellan, the same for Sherman and $21,100 for Grant. Messrs. Marvin & Blood subscribed fifteen thousand dollars each for Sherman and McClellan. Among those who responded liberally for Grant's library are George S. Batcheller, John A. Griswold and Horace Greeley. As soon as enough money is subscribed it will be deposited, and the manufacture of the instruments commenced at Philadelphia.

NEW MEXICO WANTS TO BE A STATE.

A delegation of prominent officials in the territory of New Mexico arrived here yesterday, to urge upon Congress the passage of an act admitting New Mexico as a State into the Union. They claim that the territory has over one hundred thousand taxable inhabitants, and that it is fully prepared for admission. They say that within a year after the Trans-Continental Railroad is completed and connection made with the Kansas Pacific Rroad, the territory will have trebled its present population. The bill for the admission of the territory was introduced at the last session of Congress, and is now in committee. A similar bill for Colorado will be given the preference.

THE BRITISH MISSION.

A special says: The President yesterday again informed prominent gentlemen that instructions had been sent to Motley to turn over his affairs to the United States Legation in London to-morrow, and to return home at once. He also stated that no successor to Motley had yet been chosen, and he should not tender the appointment to anybody in writing. It is noticed in the new "Official Register," just issued by the State Department, that Senator Morton's name appears as Minister, and his appointment is recorded as dating from September, 1869.

WILL NOT BE ABANDONED.

Dr. Van Aernam, the Commissioner of Pensions, expresses the opinion that the prosecution of Roderic R. Butler, Congressman elect from Tennessee, for dishonest practices towards the Government Pensioners and the Pension Bureau, will not be abandoned, and also, that all the witnesses are now in the hands of the Attorney General who will instruct the District Attorney here to proceed with the prosecution as soon as Butler arrives. The Commissioner will have all his witnesses ready when called for.

ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION.

It is understood that an effort will be made at the coming session of Congress to have a bill passed providing for additional compensation for certain Census Marshals and Assistant Census Marshals. The Commissioner of the Census thinks that the money originally appropriated was sufficient, but it was unequally divided. The Marshals and Assistant Marshals in sparsely settled districts received no larger pay than those in thickly populated districts.

VINNIE REAM'S LINCOLN STATUE.

Miss Ream, the sculptress, who has been engaged for about three years on the ten thousand dollar statue of Lincoln, ordered by Congress, writes from Rome that the statue is completed, and will be at once shipped for Washington, where she hopes it will arrive in time to be viewed by the members of the present Congress.

GENERAL COURT MARTIAL.

A general court martial, consisting of Cols. Sacket, Buchanan and Drum, Majors Pratt, Pelaspie, Hardin and Dana, and Captains Hawkins and Jackson, with Lieut. Kellogg as Judge Advocate, has been appointed to meet at Detroit on the 21st inst., for the trial of Captain Fergus Walker.

PENNSYLVANIA

Death of Senator Watt—Tie in the Senate.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, November 18.—William W. Watt, Senator from the first district, died this morning. His decease will leave the parties tied in the State Senate. A special election will have to be held to fill the vacancy, but it cannot take place until after the meeting of the Legislature, upon a warrant signed by the Speaker of the Senate.

The State Treasurer Contest.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, November 18.—G. Dawson Coleman has consented to become the Republican candidate for State Treasurer. Mr. Mackey, and Irwin, the present Treasurer, are to decline the nomination.

Letter From Minister Curtin on the Subject of Revising the State Constitution.

HARRISBURG, November 18.—A private letter from Governor Curtin has just been received here containing the following relative to the proposed revision of our State Constitution.

After stating that he has not participated in political discussions since he has been in Russia, the Governor says: "But I cannot refrain from encouraging you in the important reform you treat so fully and forcibly in your last letter. I am rejoiced to learn that an earnest effort is about to be made to secure a general revision of the Constitution of Pennsylvania by calling upon the people of the State to exercise their sovereign power through the channel of a Reform Convention. Surely such a movement must meet with the cordial approval and enlist the positive efforts of the best men of both parties. For the necessity of thorough reform is painfully apparent to all. It is not in any sense a question of party politics, and it should be preserved from the dangers of mere partisan direction. The revision of the fundamental law of a great Commonwealth like Pennsylvania, after the lapse of a third of a century embracing decades of matchless progress, is a work of no common magnitude. It is most vital to our vast and varied material interests, and equally so to our future honor and advancement, that the public should be enabled to perfect their sadly needed reforms in the most unbiassed and dispassionate manner, and therefore special elections, as far removed as possible from the annual political struggles, should be held, not only for the election of delegates to the convention but also for the ratification or rejection of the amendments which may be matured and proposed.

"Such a Convention at this time could not fail to elevate the character of our legislation and to redeem our political system from many of the debauching influences which have become so closely interwoven with it. It would enforce a just deference to the popular will in the enactment of laws and in the exercise of all delegated powers. When the will of the people is respected, the good name and the prosperity of the Commonwealth are never imperilled."

The Vanderpool-Fields Homicide Trial in Michigan—Waiting for the Verdict.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

DETROIT, November 18.—The trial of George Vanderpool for the murder of Herbert Fields, at Manistee September 5th, 1869, which has been the greatest and most exciting murder trial in the history of this State, has just closed at Kalamazoo, and the case was given to the jury at 3:30 this afternoon. A verdict had not been rendered up to 11 o'clock. This is the second trial, and it has occupied twenty-six days. The defendant Vanderpool is charged with having killed Herbert Fields, his partner in the banking business, at Manistee, in the western part of this State, in their banking house, on Sunday, September 5, between 11 and 12 o'clock A. M., leaving his body in the bank until after 9 o'clock that night and then throwing it into Manistee River. Fields' body was found on the shore of Lake Michigan, about 30 miles north of Manistee, ten days after he disappeared, with two large cuts on his head. Vanderpool was arrested three days after Fields' disappearance, charged with his murder. The evidence against Vanderpool was entirely circumstantial, but very strong. He was tried at Manistee in February, 1870, convicted, and was sentenced to the State Prison for solitary confinement for life, the highest penalty for murder in this State. A new trial was applied for and granted, with a change of venue to Kalamazoo, which is now just concluded. There were eminent counsel on both sides: for the people—Hon. D. V. N. Lathrop, of Detroit; Attorney General Dwight May, of Kalamazoo, and General B. McCutcheon, of Manistee; for the defence, Hon. D. D. Hughes, of Marshall, and John Van Arman, of Chicago. The object of the defence has been mainly to bring about a disagreement of the jury, having little or no hope of an acquittal, and the probabilities are that this will be the result.

Tardy Railroad Passenger—Conductor Shot.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, November 18.—This afternoon two colored men somewhat intoxicated got on the down passenger train of the Indianapolis, Cincinnati & Lafayette Railroad, at Greensburg, Indiana. When the conductor, John C. Smith, came around demanding tickets one of the men, Capt. Leath, of this city, manifested a disposition to play with the conductor and to delay matters by handing him a piece of paper. The patience of the conductor gave out and he stopped the train and put both the men off by force, though it appears the second party had not participated in the delay, and after the bell had rang agreed, according to the statement of passengers, to pay his fare. This so enraged the second man, who was a barber from Greensburg, that he drew a revolver and discharged it twice at the conductor, one ball taking effect in the hip. Finally they were induced to come on the train, and manifesting a disposition for further fight a brakeman undertook to knock the barber down with a stone. This failed and the latter again discharged his pistol, this time at the brakeman, though without effect. The two were finally arrested and sent back to Greensburg. The conductor is seriously though not dangerously wounded.

TWO Englishmen in Chicago on a spree decided "to become angels," and bought and swallowed a quantity of morphine. One died, and the other was very indignant next morning to find himself alive. "But I'll follow him soon," said he: "I'll be one of the angelic host in a few days."

THE Sycamore True Republican says that Dr. I. W. Garvis, of that place, recently removed from the leg of Capt. E. P. Safford, ex-Sheriff of DeKalb county, Ill., a large Minnie Rifle ball, with which he was shot at Decatur, Ala., six years ago. It weighed one ounce and one-eighth.

IN Chariton, Iowa, lives a widow by the name of Hoyer. She has three girls, the eldest sixteen years old, who have this fall, without assistence, excavated a cellar, walled it up properly, dug half an acre of potatoes, turnips, &c., and placed them in the cellar, and are now ready for the winter.

A LETTER from Canton to the Peoria Democrat claims that the wickedest man in Illinois is living in the former place. On Saturday afternoon last, while his child was lying a corpse in his house, he was in a ten-pin alley, playing ten-pins, and spending the money he should have used to supply the wants of his family.

THE cars on the Iowa Central having reached Mason City, the construction corps has been transferred to the line below Marshall, where its trains are now at work. The grade and iron are fixed for Oskaloosa, and the cars will be running to that city when the bridge over the Des Moines River, at Eddyville, is completed.

CHICAGO has introduced into its fire-engine houses an ingenious device, by which the first man out of bed when the alarm strikes, pulls a rope, which simultaneously unhitches the horses in their stalls and rings a little bell, at the sound of which the trained animals rush to their places in front of the engines. It saves a minute and a half in getting started.

THE Kansas City Journal of the 15th says: "Yesterday A. L. Dyke, a train-boy on the Kansas Pacific Railroad, started for Europe, in obedience to a summons by telegraph. The dispatch stated that a very wealthy uncle of the boy had died, leaving him his entire property, valued at $1,251,000. Young Dyke's former home was in Cheltenham, England, and he left there eight years ago."

EARLY on Saturday morning, Miss Mattie Eaton, who lived with her brother-in-law Jason Ames, in Jerseyville Ill., was missing, and search was immediately made throughout the neighborhood. At about 11 o'clock her body was discovered in a well in the rear of Mr. Ames' house. Judge P. P. Voorhees held an inquest over the deceased, and the jury returned a verdict that she came to her death by precipitating herself into the well while laboring under temporary insanity. Miss Eaton was 17 years old, and was raised near Madison, Wis.

THE Buena Vista county (Iowa) Pilot, under the head of "Storm Lake on fire," says: "Not exactly true, but so it appeared to lookers-on. A few nights since, the prairie along the entire south bank of the lake was on fire, and about ten o'clock the flames reached the ridge at all points almost simultaneously. The sight was grand, and an artist could find no grander scene for a picture should he search the wide world over. Here was a line of fire five miles in length; the sky and clouds were brilliantly illuminated, while the reflection in the clear waters of the lake presented the appearance of a lake burning downward into the water.

THE necessary amount of stock having been subscribed, letters patent will be issued to the Pittsburgh and Virginia R. R. Co. in a few days, and the election for managers will be held on the first Tuesday of January, 1871.

A MONTH since hogs sold readily at 8½ and 9 cts at Barnesville. The sudden decline to 5½ cts is evidently the result of a large hog and corn crop. Farmers refuse to sell at the decline and speculators fear to invest, as the future is not clear. The price of hogs must advance upon the approach of cold weather. Seven cents will probably be the ruling price one month hence.

THE producers who raised tobacco this year and air-cured it, are having a ready market and an immediate transfer of the weeds into greenbacks. Two merchants from New York are at Barnesville buying direct from the producers and paying, we learn, from five to six cents per pound. This is a new feature in tobacco sales. The competition may possibly make a radical change in the future tobacco market in Barnesville.

QUITE an excitement was created last week by the disappearance of Mr. Amos Finch from the neighborhood of Spencer's Station. He left home on an errand, but has not yet returned. The country was aroused by the event and diligent search was made for the missing man. It has since been ascertained that he got on the cars at Millwood, saying that he intended to go West. He left most of his money at home. No cause can be assigned for his strange conduct, except the scarcely tenable theory that he was insane.

THE Roman populace are reported to be discontented that king, court and legislature do not take up their abode in the Eternal City, and priests do not scruple to aver that Victor Emanuel dare not come to Rome. Meanwhile the Pope insists on acting as though he is a prisoner, and never stirs outside the Vatican.

SHOULD King William hold a review of his soldiers at Camp de Mars, in Paris, it will not be the first in which he took part on that renowned parade ground. More than half a century ago he was promoted there to field rank and took command of a battalion of the First Guards as a Prussian major under his father's eyes.

PERHAPS the most prominent element in the religious and social revolution going on in Madagascar is the universal desire among all classes for instruction. The Queen, to encourage and strengthen this desire among her subjects, is studying the English language and the example is felt through all the ramifications of society.

THADDEUS of Warsaw has turned up in London again; but this time his name is Poniatowski. He is a real full-blooded Polish Prince, well-known for many years in Paris as an amateur composer and musician. He is now of the war refugees, and so poor that he is compelled to earn his living by giving singing lessons.

THE war having caused a paucity of hands for field work, the prisoners in Germany have volunteered to work on canals or landed estates, for which service they receive pay and lodging. Their labor gives satisfaction. The Turcos are too much akin to the kings of the desert to soil their hands with anything so vulgar as common labor, though they are as strong as bulls.

THE elegant mansion of M. Meissonnier, at Poissy, is occupied by seventy-five Prussians, and his stables contain twenty-five horses, not his own. The Germans have respected the house and its adornments and contents, even to the extent of a prohibition against walking on the grass. A German "brother of the brush" occupies the studio of Meissonnier and is painting a picture of it.

THE German infantry have recently been armed with a new weapon, designed for mountainous and guerrilla warfare, which supercedes the light field artillery. It is a small portable field piece, weighing about thirty-five pounds, and was tested in the war of 1866. It can be carried by two men, and ten shots a minute can be fired from it. Its range is at least 2,000 yards. Thousands have been distributed to the army.

A SERIES of experiments have recently been made at Tours to calculate the height at which a balloon would be perfectly safe from an enemy's fire. A small balloon, 6.5 feet in diameter, and attached to a long cord, was sent up in a meadow, and at the elevation of 5,392 the most practised marksmen were unable to pierce the silk. At elevations of 3937 and 3281 feet the balloon was repeatedly pierced, but the gas escaped so slowly that the balloon might travel several miles before falling.

THE inhabitants of Luxemburg, says a correspondent, have adopted, by common consent, the pleasant plan of always answering a question in some other language than that in which it is asked. Delightful variety is thus imparted to conversation at the expense of convenience. Your landlord seems to speak nothing but French, the chambermaid certainly understands only German, and the waiter, by replying "yes" to every order, tries to give you the impression that his English is his native tongue.

GREECE remains in a deplorable plight, but her present premier, M. Deligeorgis, is a great improvement to his predecessor. In a report on the internal condition of the country, he has informed the King that last July there were 2,187 outlaws, brigands, murderers, robbers and escaped convicts living by violence on the produce of agricultural industry, and 267 recognized brigands at large in Greece. The minister declares his intention of suppressing brigandage, but in a roadless, moneyless country it is no easy task.

THE Great Duke of Mecklenburg, Governor of the German-occupied French provinces other than those of Alsace and Lorraine, has issued an order that "all persons under my command, and corps who may march through Champagne, are directed not to disturb the village in any way. Wagons laden with wine or empty barrels in the whole territory of Champagne, may neither be seized nor destroyed. Every unauthorized entry into the vineyard and every damage therein committed will be punished according to military law."

A QUESTION has been raised as to the fate of aeronauts if captured—whether they would be treated as ordinary prisoners of war, or shot for carrying news to the enemy. Their situation is, at any rate, sufficiently hazardous to be exciting, and would almost have satisfied Sir Charles Coldstream, in the play of "Used Up," who was so deplorably in want of a new sensation, and having been up Vesuvius and looked down the crater, declared that "there's nothing in it." There's something in hovering over the Prussian lines amid showers of bullets.

GENERALITIES.

THE following dispatch has been received by the Literary Bureau from Mark Twain: A son was born to me yesterday, and with the true family instinct he has gone to lecturing already. His subject is the same as Josh Billings—"Milk." You are hereby constituted his agent and instructed to make arrangements with lyceums.

MRS. STANTON writes: "I went last evening, with Theodore Tilton, to see Marie Seebach in 'Taming of the Shrew.' She played Kate so admirably, looked so happy and beautiful in her wife subjection, that I went home in despair of my sex. I have often thought if poor Kate had lived in Indiana, Petruchio's experiment might have been a short one."

A DEPUTATION of Paris fish-wives, we are informed, has been waiting on M. Rochefort. They did not, however, as is their custom, ask to kiss him. In 1848, when the dames de la Halle desired to salute Lamartine, "Mesdamies," said the poor poet, "it is women only who kiss, but you are men by your patriotism—like men I shall treat you—we shall shake hands."

THE Cincinnati Commercial of Sunday says: Captain Boardman's iron steamer, built at Cincinnati for the New Orleans and Red River trade, was successfully launched yesterday and towed to Louisville to receive her machinery. The hull is very light, only drawing fourteen inches of water without her machinery, while she will have capacity for over one thousand tons.

THE N. Y. World says: There appears that during the late yellow fever invasion there were in all one hundred and fifty-seven cases upon Governor's Island, fifty of them, or thirty-two cent. of the whole number, terminating fatally. If there is no mistake about these figures, the death-rate is certainly one that gives a new reason for congratulation that "bronze John" is a rare visitant.

THE rumored change of class day at Yale into Commencement week, instead of coming three weeks earlier as heretofore, is officially announced in the catalogue. Commencement itself is brought forward one week, coming hereafter on the second Thursday of July, and the week which is thus taken from the summer term is added to the succeeding vacation, which will be hereafter nine weeks.

THE shrimp has a new mission to fulfill. The lunch table and the barbed hooked of the fisherman can no longer monopolize him. Experiments recently made, show that shrimps are valuable for fertilizing purposes, and under some circumstances will accomplish all that could be expected of guano. They are boiled, dried in the sun, and ground to a fine powder, when they are fit for immediate use, or may be kept a considerable length of time in a good state of preservation. Chinamen in California make a business of preparing them for fertilizing purposes.

A SPRIGHTLY correspondent of the London Telegraph describes the romantic cantiniere of the French army as "usually a fat person in trousers. Her chignon has cost money, but she has got her money's worth. All cantinieres are blonde. They gird themselves in uniform and wear a kepi, a sword bayonet and a cigarette, when in full dress. On the campagne, these latter equipments are exchanged for a big jack knife and a short black pipe. Many a time have we admired our favorite actress in coat and trousers, but the cantiniere doesn't at all remind a man of his admired actress.

REJOICINGS and illuminations, on account of the fall of Metz, have taken place in Dresden, Leipsic, Stettin, Cologne, Dantzic, Konigsberg, Elberfeld, Bremen, Hamburg, Magdeburg, Dortmund, Weisbaden, Darmstadt, Gotha, Weimar, Kiel, Altenburg, Hanover, and other German towns. In the last-named city a procession was formed at Tivoli, which proceeded to the residence of General Vogel von Falckenstein, where the Wacht am Rhein and other patriotic songs were sung; after which the General appeared, and thanked the serenaders in the name of the King and the German army.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, in his autobiography, which was printed a few days ago, tells us: "In 1781, being then fourteen years of age, I went with Francis Dana, who had been appointed Minister Plenipotentiary to the Court of the Empress Catharine of Russia, to St. Petersburg, and there resided with him fifteen months, serving him as secretary, treasury and interpreter. Mr. Dana was unacquainted with the French, and the Marquis de Verace with the English language. In their conferences I was the only interpreter between them. In their correspondence I translated Mr. Dana's letters into French for the Marquis, and the Marquis' letters into English for Mr. Dana."

TWO MILES north of Basket, a station on the Delaware division of the Erie Railway, on Saturday, about three acres of land, heavily timbered with hemlock, occupying an elevated position, suddenly sank to the depth of about forty feet, leaving the tops of the trees just visible above the surface. The sinking was accompanied by a loud crash, which died away in a low rumble, heard at a considerable distance. The trees are standing in their natural positions, having evidently experienced no particular injury in their descent. It is usual, when such freaks of nature occur, for the sunken earth to be immediately submerged by water, but in this instance no such poenomonon attends.

THE SOUTH SIDE.

ITEMS from the South Side Ledger:

DR. B. A. WOLFE has returned from his trip to Europe.

THE South Side Savings Bank began operations on Monday.

THE new patent boxes for the postoffice will soon be ready.

WE hear nothing further about that new German bank project.

AN unprecedented amount of coal is awaiting shipment on the first rise in our rivers. It is estimated at fully ten million bushels.

JOHN IRWIN, of Ormsby borough, aged twenty-three years, has been missing since the 13th inst., on which date he left his home.

THE inconvenience to which the public must submit, from the absence of flag crossings on Carson street, has been appreciated this week.

THE South Side Cemetery project has attracted the attention of religious denominations, and they contemplate securing portions of the ground.

THE corps of teachers in the Birmingham public school is one of the best hereabouts—thoroughly competent, perfectly harmonious and in all other respects acceptable.

THE corner-stone of the new M. E. Church to be erected at the corner of Sarah and Twenty-fourth streets, East Birmingham, was laid on Wednesday, with the usual ceremonies.

ANOTHER move is to be made towards having the name of our postoffice changed to "Birmingham." The office in the State now bearing that title may be prevailed to accept "Buchanan," our present mistake causing designation.

TO-MORROW (Sunday) the new St. Joseph Church, in Mt. Oliver, Lower St. Clair, will be dedicated in accordance with the forms of the Catholic denomination. All the societies of Pittsburgh will join in the procession, and those of the South Side will meet Bishop Domenec at the Birmingham bridge. The Union Cornet Band of Birmingham will supply the music for the occasion, and should the weather prove favorable there will certainly be a very large turn out.

THE First Presbyterian church, Rev. P. S. Davies pastor, on the corner of Sarah and Twentieth streets, East Birmingham, is now completed, and the dedication will take place on the first Sabbath of December. The congregation has been worshipping in the lecture room for some time. The audience room, now ready, presents a very pleasant and comfortable appearance. The seats and pupit are of white ash, with black walnut finish, oiled and varnished, but not painted, so that the beautiful graining we see is nature's own work, which no art can rival. The room is frescoed, not gaudily, but neatly, and lighted with a patent reflector in the centre of the ceiling. The seats are being cushioned and the whole floor carpeted. The trustees have adopted the "free pew system." The seats will not be sold or rented, but every regular attendant will be expected to make a voluntary subscription to defray the expenses of the congregation.

Amusements.

MADAME SEEBACH.—It is rarely that the people of Pittsburgh have an opportunity to see so great an actress as Madame Marie Seebach, for it is rarely that such are found. Ristori and Janauscheck and Mrs. Lander have all played the same roles and played them well too, but the great German woman who last night lived the role of Mary Stuart, is the superior of them all. If we should compare her with any it would be with the Italian, but such a comparison would not do Madame Seebach justice. From the time she came upon the stage and darted her glorious eyes over the audience until the last sad exit, holding the crucifix aloft, she held the audience enthralled. Every word and every action was full of art and grace, and in the encounter with Elizabeth, in the farewell scene with her attendants and in the confessional scene, her genius shone forth transcendant. We are scarcely going too far, when we say that we have never before seen such perfection of tragic art.

Much of the pleasure of the evening was, however, due to the excellence of her support. Mademoiselle Vanetta, Mr. Dombroski and the gentleman who played Shrewsbury, were all artists such as, in America, would rank as stars of the first magnitude, while every character was played well, and as if the player understood the intention of the poet. Taking it all in all, we have to thank Madame Seebach for a most excellent and thorough dramatic exhibition, and we were glad to see so thronged a house last night to witness it. To-night Madame Seebach plays Margaret, in Goethe's noble drama of Faust, which, if we mistake not, will be produced for the first time in our city.

OPERA HOUSE.—Mr. Edwin Booth, the greatest and brightest of American stars, appeared last night at the Opera House in Richelieu, Bulwer's master composition. The audience was large. Every seat was occupied. It would be idle to talk of Booth's interpretation of the designing and crafty Cardinal. He was perfect in the rendition. But there were others who contributed largely to the enjoyment of the audience, and added materially to the success of the great histrion. Mrs. Ettie Henderson as Julie de Mauprat acted with a vigor, force, and delicacy which stamped her as a genius worthy of place among our leading theatricals. Gotthold sustained his high reputation as an actor, while Gossin was truly superb in the role of "Francois," the favored protege of the arch-cardinal. Mr. Gossin has won much praise by his superior acting during the Booth engagement. He is naturally a fine actor, a close and telling reader, an artist in every way. Indeed, the audience at times did not know whether Gossin or Booth deserved the most plaudits. To-night Booth appears as Richard III., a role in which he displays versatility and art. This afternoon he appears in the matinee as "Iago" in Othello. We only hope that he will have audiences commensurate with his ability, and if so, not an inch of space will be left unoccupied in the Opera House.

MASONIC HALL.—Monday evening next the celebrated Morris Bros. minstrels will commence a series of their excellent entertainments at Masonic Hall. It is only necessary to announce the arrival of the Morris Bros. and the place where the entertainments will be held to ensure a full house. They are exceedingly popular here.

VARIETIES.—The Foster Pantomime Troupe are playing to large audiences nightly at the Varieties. The Varieties is the best "show" of its character in the country, and the people appear to know the fact and appreciate it, if we are to judge from the patronage it receives.

FREE LECTURE.—Everybody should attend Professor Fowler's Free Lecture at Masonic Hall, this evening. He lectured to a full house last evening, and the house will doubtless be crowded to-night.

FAIRS.—The Light Guard, Point Chapel and St. Bridget Fairs continue to be well patronized, and the interest, instead of diminishing, is on the increase.

LITERATURE, MUSIC AND ART.

MISS KELLOG is singing in Chicago.

MR. MCCREADY, the ex-tragedian, is about to publish a volume of his reminiscence of Dickens.

IT is proposed to issue a century book in honor of the approaching centennial of the Declaration of Independence.

JOHN WHOPPER the newsboy, which appeared as a serial in OLD AND NEW, has been published, and will be issued on Saturday.

ESSAYS written in the intervals of Business, is the title of a volume by Arthur Helps, which Roberts Brothers will issue on Saturday.

ROBERTS BROTHERS will issue Jean Ingelow's new poems nicely illustrated as a Christmas book, the title of which is "The Monitions of the Unseen."

PAUL KONEWKA has illustrated Goethe's Faust, with silhonettes, and the book with Bayard Taylor's text has been published as a Christmas book.

J. B. LIPPENCOTT & CO. have paid a large sum for the advance sheets of Henry Bulwer's "Life of Lord Palmerston," and already have an American edition, in two duodecimo volumes, nearly ready for publication.

THE collection of the literary memorials of Washington belonging to the late Dr. Joshua I. Conen, a prominent Israelite of Baltimore, is probably the richest and most valuable in the country, and his collection of the Continental paper currency the most complete.

THE report started by [illegible] Athenaeum, that an American publisher had offered Lord Lytton $2,500 for [illegible] sheets of his forthcoming novel, is [illegible] truth. And this was done [illegible] information about the book. Prize Obituary Poetry.

Philadelphia has long enjoyed a pre-eminence in the publication of obituary "poetry," in which rhyme, reason, and measure are strangely commingled; but New Orleans is "after her," and when she shall be able to indulge in the luxury a little oftener Philadelphia will undoubtedly have to take a back seat. The quality of the following tribute to a departed child, published in the Republican, which is credited to the Superintendent of Education of the State of Louisiana, is rarely excelled:

Is Willie gone—gone to the land above—
Gone where all is good—where all is love?
Yes, yes; on angel wings away
To the land of love, the land of day.

No night, no cloud, no "scarlet fever" there,
Nor sin, nor pain, nor death itself is where
Our Willie's gone—a land so rich, so good,
That saints are fed on Angel's food.

Is Willie gone—gone so far away
That we no more shall hear him say:
"Papa, ten cents for cake and I'll love you—
I'll love mamma, Georgie and grand'ma too."

Yes, gone where others sweet and dear,
Said—"Come, Willie, please come up here—
We'll wait for papa, mamma and Georgie too,
And, while waiting, sing—we'll sing with you.

No Canvassers Employed.—The Singer Sewing Machine Company employs no canvassers; yet notwithstanding this fact, the sales are many thousands in excess of other well-known and popular machines. The public have a faculty of finding out what is truly meritorious, and ascertaining wherein they can most economically and judiciously invest their money. The popular judgment is in favor of the Singer Machine. As you will wait in vain for a canvasser, go to the agents, Messrs. Straw & Morton, No. 20 Sixth street.

The Singer Patents.—An item has been going the rounds to the effect that Singer's patent had run out, and that the sewing machines would be greatly reduced in price. Mr. Singer has some sixteen valuable patents on his sewing machine, and the one which he failed to get renewed is one of the least important. The Bachelder patent on the feed was renewed during the last session of Congress for seven more years, which will protect him during that time, even if there were no other unexpired patents.

THREE children of John Bower, of Sharon, were poisoned by swallowing some pills their father had been using some time before. One child died before medical aid could be summoned, and the others were saved with difficulty. Moral—destroy old medicine.

THE STATE SENATE.

We are pained to learn of the sudden death of Hon. W. W. WATT, the Senator from the First District of Philadelphia. We have no particulars of his decease.

MR. WATT was a Republican and was elected in 1869. His death leaves the Senate a tie—16 to 16. The Speaker of the Senate, however, Hon. Harry White, of Indiana county, is empowered by law to issue a writ for the election of a successor, which will doubtless be done after the Legislature assembles.

At the late election in Philadelphia the wards of which the First Senatorial District is composed, the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Seventh, Eighth and Twenty-sixth, gave a Republican majority of fifteen hundred. This majority should have been two thousand, as glaring frauds were committed in many of the districts resulting in the aggregate to five hundred votes. There is no doubt but the District can easily be carried if care is exercised in the selection of a candidate, and thus the ascendancy of the Republican party will be preserved.

DEATH OF JAS. S. CRAFT, ESQ.

But a few days ago we met our venerable friend at the chapel door of Trinity Church, apparently in his usual health. A severe cold was contracted, conjoined ... of the heart supervened and was suddenly prostrated. His constitution under the weight of [illegible]-five years was too far spent, the vital forces were exhausted, and James S. Craft is no more. He died at 5 o'clock Friday morning. Mr. Craft was born in New Jersey, but for more than fifty years has resided in, or near this city. He was a member of the Pittsburgh Bar, and although a well trained and astute lawyer, was not fond of the profession and practiced only enough to preserve his familiarity with the laws and the rules of Court, he preferred the commercial law practice and in past years was often retained in important cases involving commercial questions. When we first made his acquaintance in 1829, he was officially connected with the management of the Pittsburgh Navigation and Fire Insurance Company, the first local company incorporated in this city. He conducted its affairs with consummate skill and success, until it was sadly crippled by the great fire of 1845, and eventually wound up. We think it was previous to this, that he gave, for a few years, some attention to politics and served one or two terms in the State Legislature, where he proved himself a ready and able debater. He soon retired from the political arena and engaged in manufacturing. He was for several years a member of the firm of Adams, Allen & Co., cotton manufacturers. In later years he engaged in extensive real estate and stock operations, in which, with slight exceptions, he was always successful and at his death had accumulated a fortune estimated at $600,000 to $800,000. Mr. Craft was a gentleman of cultivated and refined tastes—was quite a connoisseur of paintings and sculpture. He married a daughter of the late George Miltenberger, an elegant and accomplished lady, during whose life their house was the abode of a generous hospitality. Two daughters and one son survive him. His son, liberally educated, partly in Europe, is by profession a civil engineer, and resides in this city. His eldest daughter, Mrs. Bissell, has resided for some years with her father, and the second daughter is the wife of Mr. Isaac G. Speed, also of this city. By these his last sickness was attended with affectionate solicitude. Very many of the older citizens will, in his death sorely lament the loss of an esteemed friend, and all will mingle their heartfelt regrets with the bereaved family.

FALSEHOOD NAILED.

Whenever a question arises that in any way affects the President, journals in opposition to the administration invariably misrepresent the facts. A system of lying, methodical and remorseless, that would put to the blush any man in his individual capacity, is at once adopted by these opposition journals, and a string of pure inventions, gleefully exhibited to the public as evidences of the charges made. In no instance has this been more evident than in the endeavor to make a mountain of mole-hill Cox. The Democratic party has no interest in the late Secretary. They care no more for him than they do for Delano, but consider the opportunities afforded them, and join in the cry over the resignation of Mr. Cox, as a means that may possibly affect the strength of the President in the hearts of the people. A plain statement, plainly made, fully exposed the late Secretary, and settled in the mind of every reasonable man that if any suspicion of wrong entered into the McGarrahan claim, it was rather connected with Mr. Cox than with the President.

The World, however, as is usual with it, was not satisfied unless it had the last word, even if that word should be grossly untrue. This, to it, was a matter of no moment, provided it could only induce some one to believe that it knew more than any other journal, and that there was a taint hanging on the President. In its issue of the 15th it says: "Very likely Louis Dent misled him (the President) when he hurried from Washington to Long Branch, last August, to report what Secretary Cox was preparing to do. Thus his ears were stuffed with false accounts by his brother-in-law, may have been more the President's misfortune than his fault."

The World oversteps its mark. It no doubt believed that in the ordinary course of things, Mr. Dent had visited Long Branch during the season, and that August was the month he was most likely to be there. If this should happen to be true, the slander once started could not be disproved. But the World never took into consideration that it was barely possible Mr. Dent was not at Long Branch that season, as turns out to be the fact. Mr. Dent, little inclined to allow the slanderous intimation to go unwhipped, writes the following short letter:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16, 1870.

I was not at Long Branch last August, nor at any time during the last 18 months. During the President's stay at Long Branch, or while he visited Washington during the summer, I never made any suggestion to him, or had any conversation with him, or wrote letters to him relating to Mr. McGarrahan's claim, or the claim of other persons to the Panoche Grande. As to this letter of the President's to Secretary Cox, I never knew of its existence until I read it in The Washington Chronicle about two weeks ago.

LOUIS DENT.

Had not the World gone so far as to state the month and the visit, there might be a chance for crawling out. As it is, however, Mr. Dent has quietly nailed the slander so that there is no getting away from it.

PRESIDENCY ON THE BRAIN.

One of the instances of American politics, from this time forward, will be found in the ambition of politicians of all grades to occupy the Presidential chair.

For many years after the formation of the Federal Constitution, this element entered but little, if at all, into the political contests of the day. The gratitude which the American people naturally felt for the sages of the Revolutionary era so naturally impelled them to seek only among them for their Presidential candidates. Consequently Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Madison and Monroe were all [illegible] chosen to the Presidency with but little opposition; and the little opposition that did exist did not go outside of this circle for its embodiment. Up to 1820, therefore, our Presidential elections were not worthy the name of contests. The popular candidate for the time being, practically walked over the course.

But in 1824 a new era set in. The old Revolutionary stock was exhausted, and the national gratitude no longer bound the people together as a unit. In making choice of a President in that year the voters had to go out into the generation of political men who succeeded the statesmen of the Revolution, and the result was a regular scramble, instead of the orderly and almost unanimous elections of the preceding thirty-six years. William H. Crawford, of Georgia, was the choice of the ruling influence in Congress, and a caucus of a majority of the members of both Houses, (National Conventions did not come in until 1832,) tried hard to make him the National candidate. But everything just then, was in a disordered condition, politically. There was not a very cordial response to Crawford's nomination, and at various points other candidates sprung up. Kentucky wanted Henry Clay; Tennessee brought forward Andrew Jackson, who, although not a soldier of the Revolution, had still a good military name, earned in the second war with England; and New England presented the name of John Quincy Adams. The result was a quadrangular contest, which ended in the success of neither before the people. Each of the four had a respectable vote; but neither had the requisite majority of the whole vote. The election consequently was thrown into the House, which finally made choice of John Quincy Adams.

We cite this election at this length merely to show that when the nation has to make a new start in politics it will always be found, as in 1825, that there are enough men with the Presidency on the brain to throw politics, for the time being, into considerable of a muddle.

The muddle of 1824 did not last long. The success of Adams did not build up a party sufficiently strong to sustain him. Jackson had the firmest hold on the people, and in 1828 politics had settled into new ruts, and the race was confined to Jackson and Adams, the old revolutionary feeling of gratitude to successful military men sufficing to put him through triumphantly. The same feeling carried him through the contest of 1832. But in 1836 this had measurably grown weak. Harrison, another soldier of 1812, was brought forward, but, like Jackson in 1824, he made no immediate impression, and the fight of 1836 was a scattering one. Harrison, Hugh L. White, of Tennessee, Webster, of Massachusetts, and Mangum, of North Carolina, each received a few electoral votes, but not enough to prevent Van Buren's election. It was evident, however, that while the ambition of so many prominent men to become President prompted the formation of factions in their favor, the steady tendency of the public mind, among all of them, was to a military man.

Accordingly we find, that all of the candidates who ran against Van Buren in 1836 gave way in 1840, to Harrison, who rallied around him all conceivable elements of opposition, and was elected. In 1844, again we had but two candidates, CLAY and POLK; but in 1848 we had a triangular contest. Van Buren, who failed of a re-election in 1840, again turning up, and running third against Taylor and Cass. In 1852 parties were in a transition state, so that there was not much of a fight, but in 1856, new parties were forming, and we had three candidates, Fremont, Buchanan and Fillmore. In 1860 there were four candidates, Lincoln, Douglass, Breckinridge and Bell, politics being still unsettled, and casting up, as all unsettled political times do, new aspirants for the Presidency. In 1864, the then existing war re-elected Lincoln; in 1868, gratitude to Gen. Grant for his services in the wars, carried him into Lincoln's place, just as it carried Jackson in 1828, and it will re-elect him in 1872 just as it re-elected Jackson in 1832: but the signs of the times indicate now, as they have done at various periods hitherto in our political history, that as soon as the pressure of that feeling is removed, the ambition of Presidential aspirants will prompt them to form factions in their own behalf, and make a scrub race for themselves on the first opportunity.

Already we see the evidences of ambition creeping out. Hoffman, Hendricks, Hancock, Pendleton and Chase, among the Democrats, are scheming to get the lead of their party, and in our own party we already have Trumbull and Cox and Logan, and others of that caliber, laying the ropes for a similar purpose. Of course, each of them expects to get his party nomination, or to build up a new party that he hopes will carry him through at some subsequent time.

It is to this ambition of these Presidential aspirants that we owe the present agitation of the new political questions and the attempt to form new political issues. Whatever disturbance may be made, or may be existing in either party, is clearly traceable to this cause. Those who wish to clearly comprehend the politics of the future must keep this fact constantly in mind. Some dozen, probably, of our public men are itching to be President, and each is busy trying to make the hobby that he expects to ride in upon.

As we have already said, we do not expect these men to succeed in making much trouble in 1872. The time is not ripe for them, though they think it is, and the next Presidential election will doubtless sweep most of them in oblivion. But others will step in and take their places, and the future will, like the past, witness renewed struggles for the Presidency between three or more candidates instead of between two.

RUSSIA.

The excitement over the prospect of a general European war does not abate. Everywhere the feeling seems to be positive that nothing can avert it. England does not show the slightest disposition, thus far, to temporize, and the letter from Granville is firm and positive. He takes the ground, that Russia as one of the nations forming the treaty, has no right of her own motion to declare the abrogation of that treaty. But he goes further, and states in language that may not be misunderstood, that England does not recognize any such power on the part of Russia, and will not.

If this means anything at all, it is that Russia must look only to war, so far at least as England is concerned, if any attempt is made to violate the articles of the treaty by anything stronger than words. In this, the people of England will undoubtedly support their Government, although there is no question about their utter and entire dislike to involve themselves in war.

There is one thing noticeable in the demands made by Russia, and that is, the almost insolent tone in which the letter is couched. There is no effort to reason the justice of the abrogation; no effort to call the powers together and amend any article within it, that deserves to be amended; no attempt to call for any apology from any of those powers that Russia asserts has already violated the neutrality, but a dogged, determined and almost insolent declaratory letter, stating the treaty has been violated by others and Russia intends to abrogate it, or so much of it as best suits Russia to do so.

There may be good reasons for the position taken by some of the American journals in favor of the action of Russia so far as Turkey, is concerned. There is no doubt that Turkey under the dominion of Russia, would be more Christianized and more free than at present, and the "sick man", has been sick so long, without the slightest prospect of his recovery, that it might be better that he was dead and decently buried. Better for Turkey and better for the rest of the world. But Russia has availed herself of a treaty, and reaped the benefit of it. That these were benefits, can scarcely be doubted, although by it Russia lost a small strip of land, and her dominion over the Black sea. Still if there had not been some benefit, even with that loss, in signing the treaty. Russia would not have agreed to it. Having signed it, and thus availed herself of the benefits that did accrue, it is no longer a question whether Turkey would be better or worse off, but whether Russia, just when she chooses, may break the treaty she signed, without any reason for so doing, or at least any good reason. The question is one that ought to be regarded more with reference to the people than the government. Should there be a war, it will be the men and women and children, that suffer, and it is to the preservation of these lives rather than a technical disputation over the honor of the Russian government. to which we should turn attention.

Nor is Russia's complaint one much less frivolous than was the excuse of France. The charge that other nations had violated the treaty, seems to be grounded on the fact that the Prince of Wales made the cruise of the Black Sea in an English frigate, and that a similar trip was subsequently made by Lord Lytton. This is the English violation. When the Emperor of Austria was at Varna, a Turkish city on the Black Sea, an Austrian squadron lay there, and the Sultan of Turkey cruised around in the Black Sea in a Turkish frigate. Everyone of these may have been and possibly were violations of the neutrality, but they were nor are not good causes for drenching the land with blood. It is entirely within the power of Russia to accept the "amende honorable" from either of these powers, and have her insulted dignity satisfied. But it is not within the power of France, England, Austria and Italy, to allow that treaty to be broken, unless they desire Turkey to become a subordinate to Russia. As it stands to-day, should there be war, Russia will be in the wrong, no matter whether our sympathies are with her or not.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

Much interest pervades Methodist circles, throughout the entire Church, embracing the full scope of the United States, and also foreign parts, at this season of the year—the months of October and November always being memorable, because the various anniversaries are held of Church societies. The anniversary of the Tract Society took place in Boston, and the Sunday School Union held its annual meeting at Buffalo, New York, last month. The Missionary Society Anniversary will be held jointly in New York and Brooklyn, on Sunday and Monday, 20th and 21st. It will be a grand occasion. The Church Extension Anniversary will take place in Philadelphia next week. All the Bishops will be present, except Bishop Baker, who is in feeble health. The Anniversary of the Freedmen's Aid Society will be celebrated at Chicago, sometime during the latter part of this month. Important as all the organizations are, because each one embodies the operations of the whole of this large body, and involving a large sum of money and quite an army of workers, the grand work of the Missionary Society is worthy of special note. The General Missionary Committee have just held their annual meeting in New York City, and examined the affairs of the Parent Mission Society for the past year, and also made appropriations for the ensuing year. This General Committee comprises all the Bishops, who were all present, except Bishop Baker, absent because of illness. General Mission Committee of seven, representing that many districts of the entire Church, seven clerical and lay managers from the General Board of the Society, and the officers of the Society. Reports for the year ending Nov. 1, show the receipts to be $611,849.26—decrease on previous year of $877.45—disbursements, $632,744.58, with what was in Treasury one year previous, ($9,952,81) leaves the Treasury in debt Nov. 1, 1870, $10,942.51. The Appropriations for 1871, were as follows: Foreign Missions, $234,198.54; Domestic, $356,040.40; Miscellaneous, $80,000.00—total $660,238.54, Indebtedness, $10,942.61. Grand total for 1871, $671,181.05. This sum is to be raised by the Church during the coming year.

The American Missionary Association of the Congregationalists held its Anniversary last week in Lawrence, Massachusetts. The reports show that the receipts from all sources amounted to $413,030, of which $108,983 was Governmental aid for schools and buildings. The Association commissioned nearly six hundred teachers and other laborers, of whom five hundred and six are now in service. This is a kind of Freedmen's Aid Society, and is doing a good work under the direction of the Congregationalists. Addresses were delivered by Rev. H. W. Beecher, Gen. O. O. Howard, and Senator Patterson.

The Disciples of Ohio number thirty thousand members, distributed among three hundred and fifty churches. According to the Journal and Messenger, (Baptist) of Cincinnati, there are in that State two distinct theological parties among the Disciples, as there are among the Episcopalians or Lutherans. One of the wings received the kind recognition of the Ohio Baptist Convention, while the other is cold and without sympathy.

The Presbyterian thinks that there "is more real congeniality" on the part of the Presbyterians and Methodists with each other than with any other denomination. The reason given is that their differences are philosophical rather than practical, and that they do not have the same differences as when brought into contact with the peculiar views of the Episcopalians and the Baptists on certain questions.

The Independent calls attention to a movement of the Baptists of Newark, New Jersey, under the guidance of Dr. Fish, which might be emulated by the ministry of all denominations. They have just erected three new chapels, which will give them twelve preaching places in the city.

The Southern Presbyterian Synod of Kentucky has absorbed the Associate Reformed Presbytery of that State, a small body, whose churches are to be allowed to continue the use of Rouse's version of Psalms.

At the annual meeting of the Board of the Methodist Bishops, in Baltimore, some days ago, the Plan of Episcopal Visitation for 1871, commencing December 14, 1870, and ending November, 1871, was fixed. The Bishops are to preside at seventy-one Annual Conferences in that time, each Bishop apportioned a certain number at different points in the United States. The Board comprised nine members at the last General Conference in 1868, two have died, Bishop Morris, senior Bishop, on account of his age is excused, and Bishop Baker also for his ill health. This great work, extending from New England to California, is to be performed by five Bishops. The time, place, and Bishop, of the Conferences hereabouts, are as follows: Pittsburgh Conference, to be held at Steubenville, Ohio, March 15, 1871, Bishop Clark presiding, who will also preside over the West Virginia Conference, at Parkersburg; West Virginia, March 8, 1871; the Erie Conference meets at Meadville, Pa., September 13th, Bishop Scott presiding.

Some persons are frequently puzzled to understand the discussions, on certain questions of doctrine and polity, by the higher Ecclesiastical bodies of the different denominations, owing to the obscure, meagre, and unsatisfactory accounts which appear in the telegrams of the Press Association, when any of these bodies are in session. At the late sitting of the General Lutheran Council, the "theses" and "topics" were simply named, which gave no intelligent idea to the general reader of the real merits of the question discussed. The same fact is true of the daily reports of most bodies excepting, perhaps when held in large cities, they are more apt to be fuller and more satisfactory. In regard to one of the "Four Points" (?) essential to Salvation, held by the Missouri Lutheran Synod, a writer in the Lehre und Wehre, of Missouri, throws this light upon the subject for the benefit of the general reader, that the "Sinfulness of Usury, is not an article, of the Christian creed, but a deduction from the Seventh Commandment!"

The open hostility of the leaders in the female suffrage movement, affirms The Churchman, to the ordinances of God and His Son, are assuming bolder and bolder features. At the late "Woman Suffrage Association" meeting in New York, a resolution was adopted as follows: "We declare that the injunction drawn from scripture, 'Wives, submit yourselves to your husbands,' should be thrown aside with the exploded theories of king-craft, and slavery embodied in the injunction, 'Honor the King,' and 'Servants, obey your masters.'" The word "obey," of course, could not be tolerated in human relationship. Speaking of Mrs. Stanton's plea for "more liberal divorce laws," it thinks the end of this movement is to rob the marriage relation of all its sanctity and permanence, and make it a mere contract, dissoluble at pleasure.

From the same paper, we find some sharp strictures on the creed of Universalism, in commenting upon the four corner stones of the theological temple of that denomination, as promulgated by the New Convenant—"the Fatherhood of God, the Brotherhood of Man, Christ the Universal Saviour, the Bible the ground of Faith and the rule of Life, etc." It suggests an improvement to the Univeralist platform, to read: "Two and two, make four, and everybody in America, except of course, the radical Unitarians, could stand on it." The Churchman thinks there is some meaning in the teachings of the Episcopal Church, and not an imaginary bug-bear, that "God is our Father, that Christ hath redeemed all mankind, and that all men are brethern, and that the Holy Scripture contains all things necessary to salvation."

ANCIENT PROBLEMS.

In the front rank of subjects which engrossed the attention of the learned and ingenious from the earliest times, may be placed the Quadrature of the Circle, that mighty problem of the mathematician, the Elixir Vitæ, the eager desire of poor death-doomed humanity: the Philosopher's Stone, that tantalizing mirage of the alchemist; and the Perpetual Motion. Of these four, the first has been set at rest so far as mathematical demonstration can do it, by proving that while the circle cannot be squared exactly, it can be approached by ever increasing degrees, to the utmost limit of decimal fractions. The elixir vitæ, or water of life, which was sought for with an unquenchable ardor, for ages, received its quietus long since; more intelligent inquiries into the physical construction of man having scattered to the winds all the crude but pleasing hopes of arresting decay and death, by the discovery of a liquid with heaven-endowed efficacy. The philosophers stone was of a kindred character, for, without the power of transmuting the base metals of the earth into pure gold, there could be but small wish to live forever. It needs some convenient method of replenishing the exchequer at short intervals, to make endless life here desirable; and the alchemists labored with such entire devotion to the attainment of the great secret as required a draught of the water of life to sustain their energies till the object should be achieved. These three problems which absorbed much of the regard of the learned and enthusiastic for ages, no longer arrest the attention of the wise, but by general consent have been stowed away on the upper shelves of obsolete enquiries.

There yet remains one, however, that will not consent to be placed in the limbo of impossible solutions, notwithstanding the repeated and authoritative decisions of philosophers and mechanical adepts. The perpetual motion yet maintains itself as a living question with the ingenious of every nation, and has probably more votaries at this day than during any preceding age. While the philosopher in his study fulminates his dictum that it is impossible, and all mechanical authorities contemptuously scout the poor genius who asks for assistance or sympathy, in his endeavors to solve the riddle, exertion still continues unabated, and each disappointment but adds fresh intensity to the fire of mechanical experiment, and fresh laborers to the hosts of the sanguine.

May it not be true, after all, that the philosopher has omitted some important element in his summing up, which vitiates his decision? and may not the mechanical authorities prove to be at fault, also. Of, course, while the problem still remains unsolved, they need but point for answer to the legion of shadows flitting down the wastes of time, with their despairing faces and their wrecks of machines following after them. But is it impossible to make such a combination of parts as shall move continuously, without the application of additional motive power? To the man of average intelligence, whose bias tends not in the direction of mechanical invention, the answer will doubtless be, that it is impossible. But to him who is possessed with the fervor of genius there is no such word as Impossible, and he feels within him a certainty that the thing can be done. It was only the other day that a Pennsylvania mechanic gave public notice of his withdrawal of all propositions to share the gains of his invention of the perpetual motion, for certain ready money; as he has now tested his machine in miniature, and knows that it will do. Perhaps, like, other thousands, he will fail and drop out out of the ranks; but if he does, they will immediately close up, and new recruits will volunteer for the contest.

Our inventor of to-day is sure of success, like hundreds before him. Three score years ago, in December, 1807, one proclaimed through a newspaper, that "These are giving advertisement that in pursuance of some overtures given in by Mr. Robert Stewart, minister of the Gospel, in January and February last, in the Edinburgh Courant, concerning the perpetuum mobile, and for the further satisfaction of mankind, and clearing their scruples anent the same, there was a curious model made at the charges of John, Earl of Breadalbane, which model will demonstrate the possibility, probab'lity and practicability of these three new discoveries, viz: Firstly, a balance, by which an equal overcomes an equal at the same time. Secondly, that being granted, a weight always going down, and never going lower. Thirdly, these being granted, a clear idea of the perpetuum mobile. If any man doubts any of these propositions, the model is brought to town," &c.

Such things as this involuntarily force a smile of amusement and pity for the self-deluded genius, because he failed. Yet the guerdon may still be in store for some more fortunate aspirant. As the field of the ordinary mechanical powers has been so thoroughly worked over, in pursuit of the great prize, it is hardly reasonable to suppose that there remain at this late day any hidden combinations in it, capable of the grand result. But are there not some virgin powers of nature, some great mechanical laws, which yet continue sealed? By what power do the myriad world revolve? They were once sped on their way by the Almighty fiat, and from that moment became Perpetual Motions, through illimitable space.

It will hardly be pretended that the motions of the spheres are of the nature of life or spirit, and are therefore ever to remain mysteries. Celestial mechanism is probably more of a mystery to us owing to the infinity of its range than to its intangible character. As the imponderable powers of nature become more and more known, we find forces where springs, wheels and weights are not necessarily present; but where potency, in exhaustless amount, and unlimited strength, are governed. Here, then, appears to be the magazine where the propelling force must be sought, by the mechanist whose ambition soars to the height of the perpetual motion; for here quietly repose the powers which only intelligence can command. These occult forces can be made to lend their aid to the movement of machinery, and are destined, at no remote period, to afford motors which will make all present ones appear insignificant and valueless.

That exceedingly subtle thing, electricity, for example, which long resisted every effort to curb its wild caprices, and only responded when imprisoned by a spiteful kick or shock, thereby proving that though invisible it is not impalpable, has latterly been tamed and coaxed into more quiet habits. It is gradually becoming a good servant of man; through the inquiries of intelligent experimenters and has been found to possess some of the characteristics heretofore supposed by the learned to be separate and independent entities or powers. It now needs indeed but little imagination to fancy it an imprisoned spirit, such as the Arabic legends give to Solomon, to do his wildest bidding. No labor of any kind appears beyond its power; while in fleetness, when occasion requires, it is hardly behind the instantaneousness of thought; and weariness never affects it. With such a power as this, of which we now know so much, and yet so little, where shall we place the limit?

Without extending our inquiries to any of the other invisible but known forces that confront us, there seems to be here, right in our grasp, ample means for the solution of the long delayed perpetual motion, and works based on that principle will afterwards be contrived, which will minister to man's curiosity and convenience. The philosopher will then, at last, admit that instead of its being impossible, it was alone our ignorance of some of the most important elements of nature which so long hindered us from learning that the perpetual motion was the first mechanical power with which the universe was endowed, and is that which has kept it going ever since.

WASHINGTON.

Democrats Disappointed—Ex Sec. Cox—Revenue Reformers Courted by the Democrats.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 16, 1870.

The large number of strangers we meet upon the streets and in hotels reminds us of the near approach of the day on which the last session of the 41st Congress shall assemble. The session will be a short one, and the legislation will probably be confined to the necessary appropriation bills, and possibly some modification of the funding act.

When Congress adjourned, in July, the Democratic party boasted of their anticipated gains in the elections to be held this fall, and they seemed to be confident of being able to control the organization of the 42d Congress. From various causes the unity of the Republican party in many of the States was not as compact as it had been in 1868, and it was feared that possibly the ardent desires of the consolidated elements of the Northern and Southern opponents of the administration might be gratified, and the control of the new Congress pass into the hands of men, some of whom were lately in arms against the Government, and others who, while not in the rebel army, yet sympathised with their Southern brethren who were. But, thanks to the unwavering fidelity of the men who stood by their country in its hour of supreme peril, the 42d Congress will be in the hands and under the control of a party which has ever been faithful to they Union, and to the best interests of the people.

THE PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY COX.

With no disposition to do Secretary Cox the least injustice, I cannot forbear expressing the opinion that he would have stood better before the country had he quietly retired from the Cabinet after he had written his ill advised letter to the President in regard to the "McGarrahan land claim." His friends had industriously circulated the story that he had been "frozen out" of the Cabinet through the influence of certain Senators, who, it was insinuated, could not use him in promoting their own selfish purposes, and his course was commended because it was claimed for him that he was the champion of certain reforms, which had been introduced into the Interior Department.

Had he remained quiet, this opinion would have been entertained by large numbers of people, who would never have known the facts in the case; but the ex-Secretary is an indiscreet man, which is as clearly shown by the publication of the letters he gave to the public on retiring, as in writing the "McGarrahan letter," threatening, in a certain contingency, to resign. Doubtless Mr. Cox wished to rest his case on the publication of his "civil service letter," and hoped the President would permit the matter to drop at that point. and let the people make up a verdict upon his partial showing of the case. How unfair? How disingenuous? However reluctant the President might have been to give to the world the true cause of his resignation, by the publication of his unfortunate "McGarrahan letter," the truth of history demanded its publication.

False impressions are difficult to counteract in most cases, but in this case, no argument was needed, the simple publication of the "ill-advised letter" let in a flood of light and the "civil service" reform dodge was exposed to the derision of thousands, who had been imposed upon by the indiscreet ex-Secretary and his friends, aided as they were by the Democratic and "revenue reform" press.

The great reforms introduced into the Indian Bureau are attributable to the President, and they will be carried forward with as much energy and fidelity under Mr. Delano as they were under ex-Secretary Cox. Gen. Parker will remain at the head of that Bureau, and the public may rest assured that the business in the Interior Department will not suffer in the hands of Mr. Delano, who has proved himself to be a very able executive officer, which is abundantly attested by the wonderful efficiently which he imparted into the internal revenue service, upon assuming the duties of Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Gen. Grant may, upon the representation of friends in whom he confides, appoint men whom he does not know personally, and who may be unworthy, but he seldom makes a mistake in appointing those of whom he has a personal knowledge.

DEMOCRATS COURTING THE REVENUE REFORMERS.

The Democrats propose to invite the Revenue Reformers to ascend the Dome of the Capitol and look upon the glorious political prospect that stretches out North, South, East and West; and following the example of the great deceiver whom they serve, promise them "the whole world" if they will but bow down and worship with them. They will give them the Speakership, the Clerk of the House, and everything else, if they will only forswear Republicanism, and prove traitors to the men who elected them as Republicans. Possibly they may find two or three in Missouri and one or two more in all the West, that will follow Gratz Brown and Senator Schurz, but the XLIId Congress will be true to the Republican party.

The insiduous attempt to disrupt the great party that saved the Nation, will meet with its merited reward in the execrations of many who were led astray by delusive professions.

Free Traders, and "sore headed" secret enemies of the Republican party have done their worst. Open enemies can always be met upon fair terms, but false hearted, dishonest knaves, have it in their power to paralyze the efforts of those with whom they profess to act.

The true men of the party, will counsel together, and being purified, the tried men, shoulder to shoulder, will march on to victory. The country is not yet surrendered into the hands of its enemies.

Consumption of the Lungs.

The belief in the fatality of the disease usually denominated phthisis, or consumption, has allowed many an one to pass into an untimely grave. That recent discoveries in medicine have done much to ameliorate and even cure many of these so-called cases of consumption, will no longer admit of doubt. Those, therefore, who allow these afflicted persons to pass beyond the reach of medicine are justly censurable. Dr. Keyser, at his new office, is compounding a cure known as "Lung Cure," which will in every instance greatly improve any case of pulmonary disease, and in many cases effect a thorough cure. It has a peculiarly pleasant taste, furnishes to the wasting and decaying organs a healthy plasma for their renewal, and its soothing effects on the irritated throat and fauces cannot be otherwise than beneficial. A medicine of which we know so much as Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure, and compounded by a man of Dr. Keyser's skill and integrity, we do not hesitate to recommend, with the firm belief that we are conferring an inestimable favor upon our readers, especially that class of them to whom a prospect of cure will be sure to meet with a hearty response. 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa. If your druggist does not keep it, send five dollars to Dr. Keyser, and he will send four bottles, securely boxed, by express, with full directions how to use it.

THE SEA.

It rolls, it coils, it foams, it flashes.
Pale and putrid, ghastly green;
Lit with light of dead men's ashes,
Flickering through the black weed's screen,
Oh! there along along the breathless land,
Elaira keeps her couch allotted;
The waters wave her weary hand,
And toss pale shells and ropy sand
About her dark hair clasped and clotted.
The purples isles are bright above
The frail and moon-blanched bones of love;
Their citron breezes full of bliss;
Her lips are cool without a kiss. [RUSKIN.

A NATIONAL MEDICINE.

One can hardly pick up a newspaper or turn a street corner now-a-days that he does not find, staring him in the face, the announcement that Prof. So-and-so has just discovered a medicine which is a panacea for all the ills that flesh is, or may be heir to. These "wonderful" discoveries usually have an existence of a few months, then disappear from public notice. The reason of their sudden extinguishment is apparent. They were humbugs. At the outset all medical preparations have an equal chance for success, as all are equally unknown; but the chaff is soon winnowed from the grain by the practical test which an unprejudiced public applies to all things. There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any length of time. One of the few which we have now in mind, and which has been a long time familiar to nearly every household in the land, is the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Their almost universal sale and use, and their emphatic endorsement from all portions of the country, compel the admission that they must be a specific for the ailments for which they are recommended. Letters before us attest their efficacy in diseases of the throat, bowels and liver. In that truly terrible complaint, dyspepsia, they are regarded as a sure cure. In Pittsburgh, where these Bitters are manufactured, their sale for home use is immense. This fact alone speaks volumes in its favor.—Extracts from the Muscatine Courier, Iowa, Feb. 7, 1870

MONEY AND COMMERCE.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov 18, 1870.

The Wall Street markets were all in a state of feverish excitement this afternoon, and fluctuations were more violent than for some time past. In the Gold Room the dealings were very large and attended with much excitement, while the price reached the highest point of the day. This was caused by cable telegrams from Europe, which reported lower prices for Bonds, and an uneasy feeling in financial circles there. On Stock Exchange the pressure to sell increased, and at times Stocks sold with great freedom. This finally resulted in a decline in active shares of ⅛ to two per cent, or about 1 per cent. on average. The day closed up with some abatement in excitement and steadier feeling, although street speculators generally, were very much mixed in regard to the future. Money was easy during the afternoon at 5 to 6 on call, with exceptions at 4 to leading government Bond dealers. Time loans 6 to 7 at present prime discounts of 7 to 8½, but the transactions in business paper were very moderate. Foreign Exchange firm at 9⅛ for sixty days and 10⅛ to 10¼ for sight. No transactions at outside quotations.

Gold strong; opened at 112⅞, touched 113⅛, 112⅝, 113, 112⅞, 113⅛, 113, and closed at 113. Carrying rates 1@4. Clearances $118,000,000.

Governments lower and quiet, closing dull. Coupons 113⅛@113⅜; 5-20s: '62, 107⅞@107⅝; '64, 106⅞@107; '65, 107⅞@107½; do new, 109@109⅛; '67, 109⅛@109¼; '68, 109⅛@109¼; 10-40s, 106⅞@107⅛; Currency 6s, 110⅝@111.

State securities dull. Missouri, 91¾; Tennessee, old, 59½; do new, 59⅛; Virginia, new, 60; do old, 60½; North Carolina, old, 46½; do new, 24½.

Stocks lower but closed steady at a recovery of ¼@½ from the lowest reached. Canton 60; Cumberland Coal, none; Western Union Telegraph Co. 42; Quicksilver 6½; Mariposa 7; do. preferred, 10½; Adams Express 67; Wells Fargo Express 33; Merchants Union Express 8; United States Express 38½; Pacific Mail 40½; New York Central, 91; Scrip 88½; Erie 23; do. preferred 46; Harlem 132; do. preferred 132; Reading 100⅞; Michigan Central, 120⅝; Cleveland & Pittsburgh 105¾; North Western 78½; do. preferred 88½; Rock Island 111; New Jersey Central 106; St. Paul 58⅛; do. preferred 80; Wabash 51½; do. preferred 72; Fort Wayne 93; Terre Haute 20; do. preferred 51; Chicago & Alton 114½; do. preferred 116; Ohio & Mississippi 28¼; C. & B. Burlington & Quincy 153; Lake Shore 92⅝; Indiana Central 24; Illinois Central 135; St. Joe 108⅛.

Sub-treasury balance—Gold $60,215,124; currency $9,770,209.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, Nov. 18, 1870.

Closing quotations as received by James T. Brady & Co.:

Gold 113; 5-20 Jan. & Jy. 1865 ...; U. S. 6s, 1881 ...; 5-20 Jan. & Jy. 1867 ...; U. S. 5-20 1862 ...; 5-20 Jan. & Jy. 1868 ...; U. S. 5-20 1864 ...; C. P. R. R. ...; U. S. 5-20 1865 ...; U. P. R. R. ...; U. S. 10-40s ...; Cy. Pacifics 111.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, November 18, 1870.

The markets in a general way present but little that is really new or important, nothing at least deserving of special notice. We can report a continued good demand for most of the leading articles, and a fair business in the aggregate, while with the exception of flour, which is a little bullish under the influence of the advices from the west, there are no changes to make in quotations; nor is there as yet any actual advance in flour, but dealers, generally claim that there should be one, though they seem to be very timid about trying it on.

APPLES—There is a fair demand and the receipts are falling off, but with a large supply, prices remain unchanged; sales at $2.50@3 per bbl, for good to prime, and $3.25@3.50 for choice.

APPLE BUTTER—Sales at 60@75 cts per gallon, as to quality.

ASHES—Common soda ash, 4¼; refined, 4¾; Pearls, 9½; Pots 7½.

BEESWAX—Sales at 28 to 30 cents.

BEANS—The receipts are increasing and the market is easier, though prices are unchanged at $2@2.50 per bushel.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—$3.75@4 per cwt.

BROOM CORN—Quoted at 5@7c.

BUTTER—Is in good supply and dull but unchanged. Sales of "commission" butter at 20@25c for common to fair; and 28@30 for prime. Commission men generally report that it is very difficult to get over 30c for prime.

CHEESE—Is quiet and unchanged. Western Reserve, 16@16½; Ohio Factory 15@15½; Ohio Goshen, 18@19; New York Goshen, 16@17.

CRANBERRIES—Very irregular, ranging all the way from $10@15 per bbl, the outside figure for Jackett's.

CARBON OIL—Standard brands 21, in a jobbing way, 22@23c for small lots.

CIDER—Is selling all the way from $6@9 per bbl, as to quality.

COAL—Sales of Anthracite at $9@9½ per ton by the car load, delivered.

CEMENT—Sales Louisville Hydraulic at $3@ ... and Calcined Plaster at $4½ per bbl.

DRIED FRUITS—Quiet and unchanged. New crop Peaches, $3@[illegible] for quarters and 10@11 for halves. Apples, 7@8c; sliced 9@9½.

EGGS—The supply continues light, but with a limited demand, prices are unchanged; 35@36 for fresh, and [illegible] for pickled.

FEATHERS—Demand is improving but there is no change whatever in prices; No. 1 live geese, [illegible] in small lots.

FLOUR—The market as already intimated is considerably firmer, and dealers generally would like to put prices up, but it seems that competition is so strong that they are afraid to make the attempt. Dealers are not only afraid of the mills, but they are suspicious of each other, and it is a characteristic of Pittsburgh merchants, that they are always slow in making an advance or submitting to a decline. We continue to quote western flours, in store, at $5.75@6.25 for spring wheat, $6.50 for red winter, and $6.75@7 for white. It was rumored to-day that the mills contemplated making an advance, in expectation of having to pay higher prices for wheat, and it is a remarkable fact that Wheat is lower here than at any other place in the country.

GRAIN—The receipts of wheat continue light, and with a good milling demand, the market is firm ... [illegible]

[illegible]

COFFEE—Choice Rio, 22; Prime, 21½; Good 21; Fair, 20; Ordinary, 19@19½; Java, 28; Laguayra, 22. Roasted Coffee loose, 23c in papers, 24.

SUGARS—New Orleans, 10@12½ for old, and 11 for new; Porto Rico, [illegible]; Cuba, 10½@11; Eat Sugars, [illegible]; Demerara, 12½; Refined—Standard Yards 16½; A 15½; B, 14½; Ex C, 14½; C Y E 13¾.

SYRUPS—Stewart's Golden Syrup [illegible]; Lovering's [illegible] other brands 80@90.

RICE—Carolina, 7½@8.

MOLASSES—New Orleans, [illegible] for old crop, and $1.15 for new; Porto Rico, [illegible]; Demerara [illegible].

HAY—Is being sold from country wagons at [illegible] according to quality and condition.

HOMINY—Sales at [illegible] per bbl.

[illegible]

LIME—Sales of Cleveland at $2.25 per bbl and carloads at $1.75.

LARD OIL—Is quoted at $1.15@1.18 for Extra No. 1, and [illegible] for No. 2.

MILL FEED—Sales of middlings at $1.60@[illegible] according to quality. Bran may be quoted at $1.20@[illegible].

ONIONS—Very dull and the supply is large and receipts liberal. We continue to quote at [illegible] per bbl, with but few sales above $2.50.

POULTRY—Live poultry is dull, while dressed is selling pretty freely at quotations. Chickens, [illegible] per pair, and dressed at [illegible] cts per lb. Live Turkeys, [illegible].

POTATOES—Sales in moderate demand; sales of Prime Lake Shore Peach Blows at [illegible]. Sweets remain unchanged at $4.00@4.50 per barrel.

PROVISIONS—Small sales of new crop Sugar Cured Hams at [illegible]; new crop Lard at 15 cts in tcs, and new Pork at [illegible].

RAGS—Quoted at [illegible].

SALT—Is quoted at [illegible] by the car load, with the usual advance for small lots in store.

SEEDS—There is some little enquiry for Clover Seed, but there is nothing doing, and no price has as yet been established; no demand whatever for Timothy seed. Flax seed is wanted at [illegible] and none offering.

TALLOW—Rendered at [illegible].

TURNIPS—Very dull and in good supply; may be quoted at [illegible] per bushel.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—In this market there is but little animation in goods or variation in prices. Brown sheetings [illegible]; Atlantic D. 11c; Continental C. 13½c; Great Falls S. 10½c; Atlantic V. 12¼c; Stark A 13½c; Laconia B 11½c; Lawrence Y. 12c; Pepperell 7-4 22½c; do. 8-4 26c; do. 10-4 ...; Amoskeag ... bales [illegible]; Bleached sheetings [illegible]; Clyde prints ...; London mourning 10c; Sprague purple & pink 12c @ 11½c.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, November 18, 1870.

Market moderately active there having been a fair volume of business in the aggregate, while in regard to prices, there are no changes whatever. There seems to be rather more inquiry for "futures" but buyers generally do not like the prices now demanded, and consequently there is not much doing beyond this year.

CRUDE.

Sales 1,000 spot at 9¼; 500 do at 9½; 1,000 seller November at 9¼; 1,000 do at 9¼; 2,000 seller all year at 9; 1,000 seller December at 9; and 3,000 seller March to September at 9½.

REFINED.

PITTSBURGH IRON MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, November 18, 1870

The increased activity noticed last week has prevailed this week also. The volume of business has been fair, but prices are without material change. In consequence of the large demand for western metal at other points, the furnaces in that direction are holding their metal at an advanced figure, and for the time being the shipments to Pittsburgh are materially reduced. Eastern metals continue to arrive freely, and find a ready market on delivery here.

In manufactured iron there seems to be no abatement of demand and the mills continue to have all they can do, with a good prospect of having their capacity fully employed during the winter. Nails are in active demand and the factories are still full of orders. Blooms are but lightly enquired for, and the sales are in small parcels for immediate consumption.

Live Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Beeves count 689 fresh to-day, making 6,369. This week being rainy was unfavorable weather with some State lots, and caused a very slow and dull market at lower prices of 7@15c; the finest droves of Texas Kentucky cattle selling at 15c; 7 car of Ohio, 13@13¾c; a car of State bulls, 8¾c per lb. Live weight stock not all sold; sheep: receipts 4,000, completing 27,500 for the week; market extremely depressed, with sheep selling at 4¼c for car of the Ohio to car of the Michigan; 4¾c for car at the Illinois, and 5c for car from Canada. Lambs—scarcely any on sale. Hogs: receipts 3,000 to-day, and 18,000 for the week; prices are unchanged but tending downward; sales on car at the Michigan sold at 8c; deck 200 lbs Ohio at 8¾c.

BUFFALO, November 18.—Cattle, the total supply for the week 424 cars, against 469 last week. Trade closed very inactive with sales to local buyers only; no shipping demand. Sales of 17 Ohio steers averaging 1058 pounds at $4.25; Canada steers averaging 964 pounds at $4.25; 16 Canada oxen averaging 1460 pounds at $4.62; and 20 Canada Oxen averaging 1460 pounds at $4.75 per head. Sheep, the market for the week drooping and closing off; sales of 460 Michigan averaging 70 to 74 pounds at $3.87@4; 200 Ohio averaging 73 to 74 pounds at $3.90@4.00; 80 New York averaging 74 pounds at $3.50, and 146 Canada lambs averaging 46 pounds at $4. Hogs weaker and 10@15c lower; common to extra selling at $7@7.50.

ALBANY, November 19.—Though there was a large attendance of buyers at the cattle market to-day, there was little done. The receipts of 4,000 head with improved average qualities of steers brought prices current last week. The bulk of sales was at 7c and a fraction higher at 8¼c, and the lowest at 4¾c. Sheep and lambs were ¼c higher than last week; for good Canada sheep 5@5c; do lambs 7@8c; for common State and western sheep 3½@4c; lambs were a fraction higher. RIVER NEWS.

The river is falling slowly at this point with four feet in the channel last even'g. Weather cloudy and cold—had several old fashoned snow storms during the day.

The Granite State from Portsmouth and Carrie Brooks from Zanesvile arrived. The Granite State departed again last evening.

The Juniata departed for Cincinnati Thursday night. The Brooks met her at "Logstown" about twelve o'clock when she was all right. Fears were entertained as the night was dark that she would have trouble.

The Brooks returns to Zanesville to-day at 4 p. m.

The Nora, Capt. Ransom, will depart for New Orleans early next week. Capt. Ransom expects to go over the falls.

The Mollie Ebert and Messenger will leave for New Orleans on the first water, as will also the Glendale for St. Louis.

—Our dispatches of Wednesday, recorded the destruction by fire of the steamers Cornelia and Bossler, at New Orleans yesterday morning, without any loss of life reported. The Cornelia was valued at $45,000, and insured in the following offices:

Enterprise, of Cincinnati		$ 5,000
Cincinnati,	do.	5,000
Firemen's,	do.	1,250
American,	do.	1,250
Eureka, of Pittsburgh		4,667
Commercial, of Chicago		2,500
Total		$19,667

The Bossler was a new boat, built at St. Louis, and insured in the Citizens', Franklin and Peabody offices, of Wheeling, for $3,000 each.

—The steamer Northwestern, on her last round trip from St. Paul to St. Louis and return, paid the following wharfage charges, and did not make all the landings, either: At St Paul, $18 85; Red Wing, $4; Dubuque, $10 45; Rock Island, $4; Burlington, $6; Keokuk, $10; Canton, $2; Quincy, $10; Louisiana, $6; St. Louis, $31 35; Hastings, $2; Dunleith, $4; Davenport, $9; Muscatine, $5; Fort Madison, $2; Warsaw, $2; La Grange, $2; Hannibal, $5; Clarksville, $5. Total, $138 65.

—A line of packets is to be formed between Cincinnati and New Orleans. The Cincinnati Gazette says the following steamers will compose the line: Belle Vernon, Captain J. J. Darragh; John H. Groesbeck, Capt. Henry U. Hart; Lorena Capt. Samuel Shuman; Leonidas, Capt. James H. Maratta; Alaska, Capt. Frank Oakes; Emperor, Capt. Wash. Thompson; Wauanita, Capt. John B. Conway; and Armadillo, Capt. George Wolf.

—The Cincinnati Commercial says: An iron firm in this city have contracted with the Louisville Mail Line for the shipment of a quantity of castings, weighing 200 pounds each, to New Orleans, at $1 30 per hundred, or $26 per tun. The transfer around the falls makes the rate rather steep.

—Capt. Andy Miller, formerly of the Jennie Whipple, and other steamers, and recently in the towing business for the St. Charles Bridge, has abandoned the river, and is proprietor of a saloon in St. Charles, Missouri, called the Arbor.

—In the matter of Missouri iron ore, 70,000 tuns of it lie on the bank of the river in South St. Louis, awaiting shipment to different points on the Ohio. One barge load of ore is being sent daily to the Grand Tower furnaces.

—The Madison Courier, of Monday, says: Some of our older citizens begin to fear the river will freeze over this winter without a rise. This has occurred twice in fifty years, and may again, but we hope not this winter.

—Capts. Sam Shuman, J. J. Darragh, and John B. Conway, left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Wednesday.

—The Far West, Captain S. B. Coulson, was to have left St. Louis for Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

—W. H. Teemyer has been awarded the contract for dredging the Washington City Canal for $88,800.

—The St. Louis and Keokuk packets will soon seek winter quarters in Quincy Bay.

—The Great Republic arrived at New Orleans on Wednesday.

—The Mollie Moore arrived at St. Louis on Wednesday.

7 Per Cent. Gold FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

Coupon or Registered (AND FREE OF U. S. TAX.) Principal and Interest Payable in Gold, issued by the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota R. R. Co.

The small remaining balance of the Loan for sale at 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency. Interest payable May and November.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St Paul and Chicago, 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over the subscription price may be looked for.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the Company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the Road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to rebuy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us at this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

AN OPPORTUNITY Seldom Offered

Is now opened for Investors and Capitalists to buy the guaranteed Second Mortgage Six per cent. Bonds of the

Indianapolis & Vincennes RAILROAD COMPANY,

Guaranteed by the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company, as the following able opinion will explain for itself, to-wit:

NEW YORK, July 16, 1870.

GENERAL A. E. BURNSIDE. DEAR SIR:—We have examined the two contracts of guaranty, dated 1st of July instant, executed by the Pennsylvania R. R. Co., and deposited with the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co., by one of which the Pa. R. R. Co. guarantee the payment of the principal and interest of the exchanged or substituted bonds secured by the first mortgage of the Indianapolis and Vincennes R. R. Co. to Edward Pearce and William Goddard, Trustees, for $1,700,000, and by the other of which the Pa. R. R. Co. guarantees the payment of the principal and interest of the second mortgage bonds of the Indianapolis and Vincennes Railroad Co. for $1,450,000, and we are of the opinion that these guaranties are in proper legal form to bind the Pennsylvania R. R. Co.; that that Company is fully authorized by law to enter into such guaranties, and that the bondholders, in case of need, can bring suit in their own names respectively, on the guaranties thus with the Farmers Loan and Trust Company for their benefit.

Yours, respectfully, (Signed.) CHARLES F. SOUTHMAYD, Of Evarts, Choate & Southmayd.

We concur in the above opinion. (Signed.) MILLER, PEET & OPDYKE.

Only a LIMITED FEW of the above bonds remain unsold, at the fixed rate of 80 and accrued interest from May 1st. They have 30 years to run, pay 6 per cent. interest per annum, semi-annually; and, being GUARANTEED by the PENNSYLVANIA CENTRAL RAILROAD, makes them as desirable a HOME INVESTMENT as the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway bonds, guaranteed by the same Railroad (P. C. R. R.) Company.

FOR SALE BY

S. McClean & Co.,

BANKERS, AND Dealers in Government Securities, No. 61 FOURTH AVENUE.

P. S.—We are now prepared to receive subscriptions to the NEW GOVERNMENT FUNDING LOAN of 1869, 1869 and 1869, approved July 14th, 1870. These three classes are: First—Ten year five per cent. Gold Bonds; Second—fifteen year four and one-half per cent.; Third—thirty year four per cent. bonds. The terms are; Subscribers are required to deposit two per cent. of the amount subscribed, and payment may be made either in coin or in the bonds of the U. S. known as Five-Twenty Bonds at their par value. These bonds are registered and coupon, and in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. These Bonds and the interest thereon are exempted from the payment of all taxes or dues of the United States, or taxation under State, municipal or local authority. Investors should report at once the amount of each kind of bonds wanted to

For Sale.—16 acres adjoining the property of James Brown, Esq., in Ross township, house barn, orchard, &c., will be sold for less than its value, if called for before December 1st. THOS. F. STEWART, 49 Fifth avenue.

Yesterday morning a two horse wagon loaded with coal broke down on Robinson street, Allegheny. The colored jehu who had charge of it was not slow in profanity, although he was slow in getting the obstruction out of the way.

F. L. Rainbow, a livery stable keeper in the Eleventh ward, made information yesterday before Alderman Butler charging Wm. Anderson with misdemeanor, in hiring a carriage and returning it damaged to the amount of $36. The accused will be arrested.

Urling, Follansbee & Co., on the corner of Wood street and Fifth avenue, keep one of the finest stocks of gents' and boys' underware and ready made clothing to be found in the West. Remember the place. Give them a call and you will not fail to be pleased.

Assault and Battery.—Information was made before Justice Salisbury yesterday by Christian Weyman, charging Andrew Schmid with assault and battery, alleging that the accused beat and abused her son, who was at work in Ripley's glass house. A warrant was issued.

Annie Murphy, from Allegheny, paid a friendly visit to Catharine Rielly, yesterday, and a "dhrop of the cratur" was introduced to infuse a genial influence upon the occasion. A row resulted and Catharine was wounded on the temple. That explains the warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Murphy, which Alderman Mann issued yesterday.

We invite book-buyers to attend the evening sales at Miner's, 71 and 73 Fifth avenue, and secure bargains. Persons in want of either books or stationery can purchase at the counters by day or evening as usual, and those who prefer to bid at the evening auction sales can do so. Remember the place, [illegible] Postoffice, convenient to almost everybody.

Some excitement was created on Sixth street yesterday morning by a horse which attempted to run away and only succeeded in getting entangled among the shafts of the wagon to which it was attached. It went along for a few steps and then fell into the door of Rankin's drug store near Penn street. Nothing was hurt and the animal was taken away perfectly docile after its attempt to skedaddle.

Marvey, J. E., Jersey City, N. J., 3 cents.
Smith, G., Cleveland, Ohio, 3 cents.
Thompson, R. A., Larimer Station, Pa., 3cts.

Keep the children well clothed this cold weather or you'll not have them long. The best way to do this is to drop into the store of Messrs. Urling, Follansbee & Co. and get them clothing, neat, stylish, yet warm and durable and cheap, all ready made. The firm keep on hand constantly a large assortment, and can fit any person, old or young, who may call. Try the house once and be satisfied that it cannot be excelled in the city.

Superior to all Others.—The Singer Machine leads every other in popular favor, because it is the best family machine before the public. One of its chief advantages is that it is supplied with bobbins ready wound for the underthread, as cheaply as the thread can be purchased on spools, and being perfectly wound, these bobbins secure a neat and uniform stitch. Call at the agency of Messrs. Straw & Morton, No. 20 Sixth street.

Stubborn Facts.—In 1869 the Singer Manufacturing Company sold nearly eighty-seven thousand machines—nearly eight thousand over the Wheeler & Wilson; forty-one thousand over the Howe; fifty-one thousand over the Grover & Baker; sixty-seven thousand over the Weed; and largely increasing numbers over the other machines. The new Medium Machine, suited for doing tailoring and other heavy as well as light family sewing, will largely increase the popularity of the Singer. Call at the agency, No. 20, Sixth street.

Full of Trouble.—Wm. B. White, for a white man, has a superabundance of trouble. He is now reposing in the Westmoreland county jail for the larceny of a lot of hides. Yesterday a new information was lodged against him before Alderman Morrow, wherein he is charged with obtaining $40 from Christopher Conebury, by representing himself as the owner of a tannery at Bridgeport, Ohio, and having plenty of money in bank there, all of which was a fiction. A new commitment will be lodged against him.

A Great Desideratum.—The Singer Company have now for sale a new machine specially adapted for tailors and shoemakers. It is a size between the Improved Family and the large tailoring machines, and fills a want which has long been felt by manufacturers, who require a machine which will do the heaviest work in their business, and also their family sewing. It is strong and durable, and at the same time runs light and quiet. Women who sew for the tailors will find this just the machine they want. It has however, treadle, etc., complete. Call at the agency, No. 20 Sixth street.

Festive Fair.—Mollie McHenry and Georgie Ward were out Thursday night buggy riding. They hired a horse and vehicle from Thomas O'Rourke, a livery stable keeper on Centre avenue. The turnout was to be returned at eight o'clock; what was left of it arrived at the stable at two o'clock in the morning. The buggy was minus a wheel, half of the cover and one shaft. The harness was simply a collection of broken straps. Yesterday Alderman McMasters' attention was called to the facts, and the festive girls are now in jail awaiting their trial for misdemeanor.

The New York "Herald" says of the "Treatise on the Bankrupt Laws," by our former townsman, Audley W. Gazzam, Esq., for sale in our book stores: "This work will be found invaluable to business men—both creditors and debtors alike. It is written in a clear, terse style, which places the whole subject of the bankrupt law before the reader in such a form that cannot fail to be full of instruction and becomes clear and unmistakable. It also contains all the recent amendments to the bankrupt act and copious notes covering the latest English and American decisions. The book is not only valuable to the business community, but will aid many lawyers in unravelling knotty questions with accuracy and despatch."

The Trade of the West.—We have received the November number of this enterprising journal. When a venture of this important character has successfully pushed its way through a decade of opposing influences, it is then no longer a venture; it has demonstrated not alone its right but its power to exist. This journal is about entering on its tenth year. It has proved its ability and earned its prosperity. The great industries of Pittsburgh which have helped to build it up have received from it as much as they gave. The number for the current month is filled with interesting matter, much of it of great importance to our manufacturers. The article on the Ohio Bridge question is well handled, and contains several valuable suggestions. We are glad to see that other articles on the great subject are promised in future numbers. The market quotations given in this journal are famous for their accuracy. We are pleased to note its many increasing signs of popularity and success.

S. S. D. Thompson, Esq., the agent of the "Andes Insurance Company," has opened his office in the Dispatch Bank building, Fourth avenue, lately occupied as [illegible]. The "Andes" [illegible]

Sewer Commissioners.—Messrs. Harrison Estep, Terence Campbell, A. J. Ralph, Dominic Johnson, Jno. Brown, Sr., and Wm. Finch, have been appointed a Board of Sewer Commissioners by the Council of East Birmingham, for that borough.

Foot Crushed.—Yesterday Robert Robinson, employed at the Keystone Bridge Company's Works, Hatfield, had one of his feet crushed and a toe cut off by a large piece of iron which fell upon it. Dr. H. H. Clark attended the injuries and thinks the foot can be saved.

Dedication.—The new Hall of the Young Men's Christian Association of Turtle Creek will be formally dedicated to the use for which it has been erected on next Monday evening. Several gentlemen of this city have been invited to be present and take part in the dedication services.

Painful.—Yesterday afternoon Mr. John Grayburn, pressman at the Chronicle office, met with a severe and painful accident. He was engaged in oiling the machinery of the press when his arm was caught between two cog wheels, and a piece of the flesh cut out near the elbow. A physician was called in and dressed the wound. It is thought that the arm can be saved, with care.

Sneak Thief.—The store of W. H. Lothrop No. 88 Fifth avenue was broken into on Sunday night last. The proprietor discovered it and stationed a boy, John Devine, to watch the place while he sought a policeman. He returned with the officer and found the boy and a jar of candy worth $2, missing. Yesterday he made information against the youth for larceny and Alderman Morrow issued a warrant.

Shining in Borrowed Jewels.—A wedding occasion, a short time since was attended by Joseph J. Calcannon whose brilliancy was further supplemented by a garnet ring which flashed and glistened under the gaslight, and was the envy of all beholders. That was bad for the beholders. The ring wasn't Joseph's. He borrowed it from a friend Mrs. Rebecca Hyer. He failed to return it again and Mrs. Hyer yesterday called upon Alderman McMasters, who sent for Joseph. The ring is valued at $30.

Births and Deaths.

From the records in the office of the Board of Health we find that during the month of October there were in this city two hundred and forty-three births and one hundred and sixty deaths. During the preceding three months the deaths exceeded the births.

Primary Meeting.

The voters of Wilkinsburg, Edgewood and vicinity, embraced in the new Independent school district recently created by order of the Court, will meet this (Saturday,) evening, at seven o'clock, at the school house in Wilkinsburg, for the purpose of nominating six School Directors, to be voted for at the election to be held on Saturday, the 26th instant. It is important that good nominations be made, and every one who has the cause of education at heart, should attend. The call embraces all qualified electors, without distinction of party.

Improvements.

From the report of Mr. R. M. Reed, Building Inspector, for the month of October, we take the following facts and figures:

Number of permits issued for brick buildings	14
Number of permits issued for frame buildings	35
Total for new buildings	49
Permits for additions and alterations	5
Total number of permits granted	54

The receipts of the office for the month were $197 60.

To Lovers of the Fine Arts.

Mr. and Mrs. Shoenberger have kindly placed their picture gallery at the disposal of the ladies who have undertaken to complete the chime of bells for Trinity church. The gallery will be thrown open to the public on Tuesday next, November 22, between the hours of 10 A. M. and 11 P. M. A small admission fee will be charged. It is earnestly hoped that many will avail themselves of this opportunity to inspect one of the best and most valuable collections of paintings in the country, and at the same time aid the ladies in their laudable enterprise. The entrance to the gallery is by the front door of No. 125 Penn street. 3

Organ Presentation.

The lady friends of the American Protestant Association of this city, contemplate presenting a fine Organ to the Iron City Lodge, No. 36, on next Monday evening at seven o'clock.

The presentation and reception will take place in the neat and cozy new Lodge room of No. 36, third floor, Maltby's building, 52, Fifth Avenue.

Gen. A. L. Pearson will officiate on behalf of the fair donors; and W. O. Moreland, Esq., will respond on the part of the recipients.

The members of the Order, and the friends of the association, particularly the ladies, are cordially invited to be present.

Received—Deserted.

Yesterday Virginia Randolph a young and rather modest looking pretty woman, appeared before Alderman McMasters, and made information against Christopher O'Neill for fornication and bastardy. Her story was that the accused became acquainted with her while she was engaged as sewing girl at an establishment on Penn street; that their intimacy became criminal under his promise of marriage, about four weeks ago; that they two lived at her mother's for several weeks ostensibly as man and wife and that finally, O'Neill when importuned to make good his promise, disappeared and forsook her ever speaking to him again. The accused was arrested and gave bail in the sum of $1,000 for trial.

Runaway—Two Men Injured.

Shortly after twelve o'clock yesterday James Kamp and Jacob Oxenhart were driving a horse attached to a light wagon down Madison avenue, and at the railroad crossing the horse took fright and ran down the avenue toward the river. Near the woolen factory he ran on the side walk and the vehicle caught between a post and the house, where it stopped and the horse went on in his wild career. The occupants of the wagon were both thrown out and Oxenhart was severely injured in the left hip. Kamp received severe injuries in the left shoulder and side. They were taken into a house close by and Dr. F. Scherer called who attended to their injuries, after which they were removed to their homes.

A Ruction.

The Murphey's and the Reiley's had a "party" Thursday night at the Murphy mansion, in Hardscrabble. There were thirteen persons present, all told, and three gallons of whisky. The guests remained in the house but the whisky soon disappeared from the jug. Its effects were visible, however, for some time after it had disappeared and the result was a grand "ruction," which terminated in two cases before Alderman Morrow for disorderly conduct, in one of which Mrs. Reiley was prosecutrix and Mrs. Murphy defendant, and in the other Hugh Murphy charged Daniel Riley and John and Margaret Riley with disorderly conduct. The defendants in both cases were required to pay fines of two dollars and the cost of prosecution.

Fire Last Night.

Last night about half past ten o'clock a slight fire broke out at Freeman & Berger's wooden ware manufactory, on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, near Twenty-eighth street. The engines were called out by an alarm from Box 66. After remaining on the ground a few minutes and subduing the flames they returned. The "boys" had hardly arrived at their engine houses before a second alarm called them to the same place. The fire had broken out again, [illegible] the wood [illegible] drying kiln [illegible] fire from the heat. For a time it seemed as if the building would be destroyed, but a well directed stream [illegible] the fire. The loss was trifling, except loss of time and trouble to the [illegible] which was considerable.

Meeting of the Water Committee.

Yesterday afternoon a meeting of the Water Committee of Allegheny Councils was held at City Hall and several important matters of business disposed of. It was decided to extend a pipe from the head of James street, Third ward, as far up the hill as the water could be forced, to accommodate persons residing in the neighborhood.

The Committee also concluded to instruct the Superintendent of Water Works to lay a new piece of water pipe on Lacock street from Craig to Darragh streets. The old one is sixteen feet under the surface and would not pay for being excavated, while it gets clogged up and is of very little use as it is. The new one will be slightly curved to allow it to pass over the level of the canal sewer, which crosses Lacock street.

Other routine business which was transacted will come before Councils at their next meeting.

The Library Association.

A meeting of the Directors of the Young Men's Mercantile Library Association was held last evening.

A resolution was passed instructing the Librarian to unlock any case in the Library upon application and await the choice of the member while selecting a book. This is designed to secure to each person the advantage of a full examination of any volume in any case and at the same time prevent the disarrangement of the volumes, or the loss of any. It is thought it will be satisfactory to all patrons of the institution.

It was decided to employ a canvasser to solicit subscriptions for membership.

Among the improvements ordered was the carpeting of the aisles between the tables and cases in the Library with cocoa matting, to prevent the annoyance now occasioned by the noise, when persons walk across the floor.

The vacation of the newspaper room in favor of the Art Association, was ordered. Hereafter the papers will be found in the Library room.

After the transaction of some other unimportant business the meeting adjourned.

Good News.

Yes, there is hardly a reader of our paper this morning by whom the fact will not be hailed as exceedingly good news that the dry goods prince, Mr. William Semple, has just received a new assortment of goods for the season, which he is offering at unprecedentedly low prices. Equal in quality to any manufactured in the country, the purchaser will be surprised at the large amount, which may be had for a very little cash. To satisfy themselves, people in need of dry goods should drop in and look at those black poplins, three large cases of which have just been received, and are selling for thirty-seven and half cents per yard. Then there are three cases of all-wool felt skirts at four and a half dollars each; and who would freeze under insufficient covering: when at this establishment there are two bales of but slightly imperfect blankets, which are to be sold at two dollars per pair. These are but samples of the bargains which may be obtained at this house, and we can assure our readers there is no place in either city where they can invest their money to greater advantage.

Presentations.

The excursionists from this city who participated in the recent formal opening of the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad, were so delighted with the trip and with the courtesy, kindness and liberality of those who conducted the affair, that they unanimously resolved to make in return a substantial expression of their gratitude. Accordingly, a voluntary fund was subscribed, and Messrs. [illegible] C. Schwartz, H. W. Oliver and T. P. Noonan, were appointed a committee to select the presents. W. P. Shinn, Esq., of this city, and C. E. Gorham, Esq., of Fort Wayne, Ind., Superintendents of the road, were each presented with massive, beautiful and costly silver tea sets, while Mr. B. M. [illegible] General Freight Agent, was made the recipient of a valuable and neat set of gentlemen's jewelry. The presentations were made by addressing brief, complimentary and grateful letters on behalf of the donors to the recipients, each of whom were only pleased and gratified, not because of receiving the beautiful gifts, but because substantially assured that their efforts towards promoting the comfort and enjoyment of the excursionists were successful and appreciated. The presents were well and deservedly bestowed, and were followed by the best wishes of those making them.

"A LEGAL (!) OPINION"

The Right of Justices of the Peace to Hold Inquests—The "Leader" Sustained (!) by Col. Bayne, Who Overrules Judges Sterrett and Stowe.

On Wednesday the evening Leader, which is seldom correct in anything, and exceedingly presumptuous in all things, took occasion to censure one Justice Love, of Coultersville, for holding an inquest on the bodies of three persons who were drowned in the Youghiogheny river near Osceola the Saturday preceding, and stated very positively that he had no authority to act in the premises. The GAZETTE the next day took exceptions to the Leader's view of the case and stated that Justice Love had a right to hold the inquest. Feeling slightly chagrined at the blunder and not having the honesty to acknowledge its error and retract, the Leader procures a "written opinion" purporting to have been prepared by Col. T. M. Bayne to support its position. We say purporting to have been written by Col. Bayne, because the production is so destitute of anything approximating to legal reasoning that we are loth to believe the Colonel is the author of it. It is so devoid of argument as to be scarcely worthy of notice.

The act of Assembly from which justices of the peace derive the power and authority to hold inquests, approved May 27, 1841, (Purdon's Digest, p. 699, sec. 127,) reads as follows: "In all cases where by law the coroner of any county is required to hold an inquest over a dead body, it shall be lawful for a justice of the peace of the proper county to hold the same, where there is no lawfully appointed coroner, or he is absent from the county, unable to attend, or his office is held more than ten miles distant from the place where the death occurred, or the body found, and said justice shall have like power, &c."

Were it not for this act of Assembly, the "writer of the opinion" in the Leader would be correct in his conclusions, not from any legitimate process of reasoning, however. The words of the act are so explicit as to admit of but one interpretation, and that is that it shall be lawful, and if lawful, right, for Justices of the Peace to hold inquests under four separate contingencies, the first is "when there is no lawfully appointed Coroner," the second is where "he is absent from the county," the third where "he is unable to attend." It will certainly not be contended that the power does not exist under all these provisions and the same power which makes it lawful also says that it shall be lawful for a Justice of the Peace to hold an inquest on a dead body where the Coroner's "office is held more than ten miles distant from the place where the death occurred or the body is found." If it is lawful for Justice's to hold inquests in any one of the above instances it is equally so in all of them, and if lawful, they certainly have an unquestionable right to act in the premises. The question is so plain that it does not admit of argument.

Until after the passage of the act of May 21, 1841, it was not lawful for a Justice of the Peace to hold an inquest. Chief Justice Gibson so decided in the case of Schultz, 6 Wharton, p. 269 and 270, and it was doubtless that decision which, being made in February, 1841, induced the act of May, 1841, by which it was made lawful. Until after the passage of that act the Coroner could not depatise a person to hold an inquest (see 2 Hale's P. C., 57 and 58); and we can find no authority under which the Coroner of this county can deputise any one to hold an inquest. In several counties of this State the coroner is authorized to appoint deputies, but the provision has never been extended to Allegheny county.

The "written opinion" argues that because the Coroner gives bonds in the sum of $6,250, and a Justice about half of that sum, and that the Justice has no right to hold the inquest. Col. Bayne certainly knows that the responsibilities of a Justice of the Peace in many instances are double that of the Coroner, while in the discharge of the duties so far as they relate to holding inquisitions super visum corporis, and that the reason the Coroner is required to give bond in so large an amount, is from the fact that under certain contingencies he becomes the Sheriff of the county.

There is one more point in the "written opinion" we desire to notice and then we have done. It is held that because the act making it lawful for a justice of the peace to hold an inquisition was passed when railroad and telegraphic communication were comparatively unknown, it now loses its force and becomes a nullity because, we have these facilities. Who but the writer of that opinion would contend, as he virtually does from his conclusions, that railroad and telegraph companies could repeal or nullify acts of Assembly by extending their lines? We have heard of railroad companies procuring the passage and repeal of laws, but it was not effected in that way.

Without pursuing the matter farther, we will refer Col. Bayne, if he is the author of that opinion, to the rulings of the Court in this county in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Lane, indicted for murder, in which the counsel for defendant moved for a new trial on the ground that the inquest on the body of the deceased was held by Alderman Butler, &c., in which the Court held that an Alderman or Justice of the Peace were authorized and empowered to hold inquests.

In Northampton county the act of May 1841 was repealed by act of May, 1861, and the Coroner is empowered to appoint deputies, and the Coroner of Lancaster county is authorized to appoint deputies by act of April 3, 1852, and in those counties it is not lawful for a justice to hold an inquest, but until the provisions of some one of these repealing acts are extended to this county, justices of the peace can, under any of the four provisions cited in the act of May 27, 1841, hold inquests without consulting the coroner.

RESULTED FATALLY.

Henry C. Canhan Dies from His Injuries—The Coroner's Inquest—The Verdict—The Engineer Censured.

It is rather a novel thing in this country to have a Coroner's jury, in making up their verdict, hold any person or persons responsible for the death, particularly when the death occurs on a railroad. It is most generally attributed to the negligence or carelessness of the victim himself, or if that does not appear from the facts, it is attributed to accident. Coroner West has, however, succeeded in empanelling six men who find in their verdict that a brakeman was killed on a railroad through the carelessness of the engineer.

Henry C. Canhan, who was injured at the Outer Depot of the P. Ft. W. & C. R. W. Co., Thursday morning, an account of which we published yesterday, died from the effects of his injuries yesterday. Coroner West being notified of the fact, summoned a jury and held an inquest on the body, and after hearing the testimony the jury agreed upon the following verdict: "That Henry C. Canhan, came to his death on Friday, Nov. 18th, 1870, from the effects of injuries received at the Outer Depot of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, on Thursday, Nov. 17th, 1870, while shifting, by being caught between the cars, while shifting them, through the want of proper care on the part of the engineer in backing his train without being signaled to do so by the conductor."

AN OUTRAGE.

A Woman Illegally Imprisoned by Justice Snyder—She is Discharged by Order of Court.

One of the most high-handed outrages ever perpetrated in this country under color of law was brought to our notice yesterday, the facts of which are as follows. Some months since a Mr. Brown, residing in McClure township, was required to give bail for his appearance at Court, and Francis McCarthy became his bail. Brown, who was informed that the case would not come up for trial for some time went to Cleveland to obtain work intending to return when the case came on for trial. McCarthy became uneasy about Brown's absence, and in order to have him return so that he could deliver him up and be released, he made information before Justice Snyder charging Mrs. Brown, with attempting to move out of the State with an intent to defraud him. A warrant was issued and the woman, who is the mother of six children, was arrested and taken before His Highness, Justice Snyder, who held her to bail and in default committed her to jail, where she arrived yesterday, being accompanied by three of the younger children. A. G. Cochran, Esq., called the attention of Judge Collier to the matter and the woman was discharged instanter.

SOUGHT A WATERY GRAVE.

A Fraternal Disagreement—Resolved to Be-suicide—Attempted—Rescued from the Waters.

Yesterday morning about nine o'clock a middle aged man apparently much dejected, was observed walking along the river bank in the Eighth ward, Allegheny. His demeanor attracted the attention of all in the vicinity, and among the number the members of the Ellsworth Engine Company, whose headquarters are located in the neighborhood. Noting his movements they observed him go down to the waters' edge, in front of the Water Works, and deliberately proceed to wade out into the stream. Divining his design, the Captain of the Company hastily procured a skiff and went out for the would-be-suicide—for by this time he had waded almost out of his depth. The rescuers succeeded in catching him just as his head went under the water; he was taken ashore and into the company's house, but refused to give his name. He said he had had a quarrel with his brother, and resolved to put an end to himself, for which purpose he had gone into the river. After remaining in the Engine house about half an hour he disappeared, in a better frame of mind, and from appearances quite reconciled to life.

ANOTHER HAUL.

Stolen Goods Recovered and the Thieves Captured.

Officers Dressler and Moon, of the detective force, have succeeded in working up a little "job" of larceny, in which they not only recovered the goods stolen, but also captured the thieves. A few days since a woman residing in Allegheny came to the Mayor's Office and informed these officers that Thos. Bayne had given her a great deal of annoyance by coming to her house with new shoes and importuning her to purchase them, and that she felt satisfied that the shoes had been stolen. Bayne is well known to the police, and his reputation for honesty or rather dishonesty is well established, and the officers readily concurred in the opinion that the shoes he was offering were stolen. The Mayor was informed of the fact and he directed that Bayne be arrested on "general account." Thursday evening Bayne was found in Diamond alley and taken to the lockup, where, in a conversation with officers Dressler and Moon, he "peeched," and from his statement it was ascertained that he and William Saville, alias Woods, who a few days since was committed to the Work House, had been operating in partnership, and that they had been assisted materially in their operations by Fremont Saville, a young brother of William's about fourteen years of age, who, about three weeks since obtained a situation in the boot and shoe store of Russell and Kahn, 92 Federal street, Allegheny, from where the boots and shoes were stolen. Mr. Kahn, it appears, slept in the room above the store, but as the boy came to open up early he would get up and let him in and then retire to bed again for a short nap, and it was during these brief intervals that the goods were stolen. It is not known how many pairs of boots and shoes were carried off, but the officers have already succeeded in recovering between $40 and $50 worth, which have been identified by Mr. Kahn.

At Isaac Gilden's, on Wylie street, eight pairs of shoes and one pair of boots were recovered, worth at least thirty dollars, which had been purchased by him for four dollars.

This was not the only operation these fellows had been engaged in. Some three weeks since a gold watch and ring were stolen from the establishment of Mr. Stroud, Fifth avenue, which it appears were taken by Bayne & Saville and sold to a woman in the city for $6. She has since sold them but has promised to turn them over to the officers. A silver watch, for which there has as yet been no owner found, was recovered from a pawnshop where it had been left by Bayne.

Mr. Kahn made information charging all three of the parties with larceny, and warrants were issued for their arrest. William Saville being in the work house, it was necessary to have an order from the court before he could be brought out. The warrant was endorsed by Judge Collier, and officer Rivers repaired to the work house and brought the prisoner to the lock-up, In the meantime young Saville had been arrested, and they are now all in custody.

Officer Dressler thinks that "Cheap Isaac," the man from whom the eight pairs of shoes were recovered, knew they were stolen, and he has made an information before the Mayor, charging him with receiving stolen goods. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

THE COURTS.

Supreme Court.—Full Bench.

FRIDAY, Nov. 18—Court met at 10 o'clock a. m. Present, Chief Justice Thompson and Justices Read, Agnew, Sharswood and Williams.

The Lycoming Insurance Company vs Satler Butler County. Argued by Bredin & Mitchell for plaintiff in error, and Thompson & McCandless contra.

Hess, et al. vs. Hess, et al, Fayette County. Argued by Boyle & Kaine for plaintiff in error, and Collins & Wilson contra.

Meason vs. Kaine, Fayette County. Argued by Fuller & Campbell for plaintiff, in error, and by Boyle contra.

Smith, et al. vs. Stoops, Fayette County. Argued by Howell for plaintiff in error, and Searight, Kaine & Campbell contra.

District Court—Judge Kirkpatrick.

FRIDAY, Nov. 18.—The first case taken up was that of Thomas Renouf vs. Geo. and Jno. Davis. Action on the case to recover the loss of four oil boats. The boats were hired by defendants from plaintiff in 1867, and a freshet came and carried the boats away. Plaintiff brought suit for the recovery of $3,000, the value of the boats. Commodore George R. Cochran appeared for the plaintiff, and was opposed by T. M. Marshall, Esq., Col. T. M. Bayne, and Major A. M. Brown. The case was ably conducted, particulary on the part of the plaintiff; and if the jury do not return a verdict for the plaintiff for four or five thousand dollars it will not be the fault of his counsel.

Robert Woods, Esq., announced the death of James S. Craft, Esq., who at the time of his death was the oldest member of the Pittsburgh bar, and the Court adjourned as a token of respect to deceased.

Jury trials will not be resumed until Monday, the 28th inst. Jurors summoned to attend Court on Monday next need not put in an appearance until the Monday following.

Common Pleas—Judge Collier.

FRIDAY, November 18.—In the case of Yeakel vs. Frazier, the jury found for the plaintiff in the sum of $246.

The case of Roberts vs. Minehart & Reynolds, previously reported was resumed and concluded. The jury found for the plaintiff as against Minehart the sum of $122.46, and assess the damages as to Reynolds.

The Pennsylvania Institute for the Deaf and Dumb vs. R. H. Kerr, action to recover amount of tuition for defendants son. The regular charges of the institution are $200 per annum, and Mr. Kerr's son was sent to the institution for three years, for which Mr. Kerr paid the sum of $300, and the suit was brought to recover the remaining $300. The defendant alleges that he had a contract with plaintiffs agent by which his son was to be received into the institution at the rate of $100. Jury out.

Isaac Meyers vs. John Huckenstein, action to recover for work and labor done. Verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $11 50.

Bankruptcy Sale.

A supplementary invoice of fresh dry goods to assort the stock and supply a number of articles much in demand, has been received. While this will prolong the sales for a few days, it will add much to their attraction, and enable a number of persons who came too late for special kinds of goods to get what they desire. The agent having engagements elsewhere, however, is determined to press the sales as rapidly as possible to a final close, and has withdrawn all restrictions or limitations from the auctioneer, whose orders are to sell at any bid, much or little. We saw this spirit exemplified yesterday in the sale of a web of 10-quarter sheeting for the price of 4-quarter shirting, and a half-dozen fine ribbed stockings for the price of a single pair. Of course, such chances as these seldom offer, and should be improved while they last.

It is a good thing to keep warm in winter when the wind roars wildly through the naked clattering trees, or shrieks whistling around the corners of chilly looking houses, when the snow falls softly and silently upon the dead earth, and the sleighs gliding hither and thither, carry merry music with their tinkling bells. Or when the smooth glittering ice invites the skaters to strap on their glittering steel and dart swiftly over the frozen streams. In fact it is a good thing to keep warm during the winter no matter which of its many phases it presents, and we know of no better way to accomplish that consummation so devoutly to be wished for, than by going to the establishment of Messrs. McPherson & Mublanbring, merchant tailors, at No. 10 (St. Clair) Sixth street, and there ordering a suit or two to be made from some of the beautiful goods they have in store.

"Tis Autumn, and the leaves are dry,
And rustling on the ground,
And chilly winds go whistling by
With low and pensive sound."

Yet the cold weather has no effect upon the business at Liebler's. He makes and sells as many trunks as ever. The secret of it is the people want good articles and knowing that Liebler has them in store at 104 Wood street, they crowd his establishment and he can't slacken up.

Sapolio cleans stair rods and door knobs.

Tonsorial.—There are doubtless hundreds of our readers who this morning would not begrudge twice the price of a shave, if they knew where they could get a nice, clean, easy shave, such as a man is sure to get at No. 69 in the Diamond, Allegheny, at the Diamond Shaving Saloon of Lyles & Scroggins. Their towels are always clean, the room comfortable and the razors sharp. Try them and you will be satisfied.

J. M. Buck & Co., corner of Liberty and Virgin alley, keep constantly on hand, a supply of fresh oysters, fish and game of all kinds. Oysters sold to families by the quart, pint or can. Fresh shell oysters by the barrel. Call on your way home, at the red front oyster and game depot, Liberty street, near Market.

Sudden changes of weather are productive of Throat Diseases, Coughs, Colds, &c. There is no more effectual relief in these diseases to be found than in the timely use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches." They possess real merit, and have proved their efficacy by a test of many years, having received testimonials from eminent men who have used them.

Sapolio is clean and convenient for household use.

It will not be a matter of surprise that Moorhead's, No. 81 Market street, is always so crowded with lady purchasers when the fact is remembered that there they can always obtain the very latest styles in dress goods and varieties without which no toilet is complete. The ladies soon learn where they can deal advantageously and with the most satisfaction. Hence the popularity of Moorhead's.

Sapolio is good for washing dishes.

Delicious Oyster Stews served up at any hour at Youngson's, corner Smithfield street and Diamond alley. The ladies will find this just the place to dine or lunch. They can drop in at any hour of the day and have their appetites appeased by the most palatable viands, and in the shortest order. Youngson is also prepared to get up suppers for private parties. In this line he is an immense success.

Sapolio cleans copper and brass vessels.

Where do you dine to-day? "At Holzheimer's—the Continental," was the answer. "I can save time by calling there on my way to the postoffice, and then, besides, I like the cooking. They set up a meal which suits me. Come in," and the two dropped into the establishment on Fifth avenue, just below the postoffice, where they refreshed the inner man with all that the appetite could call for. Both came away feeling full and happy.

A VETERAN IN TROUBLE.

A Mendicant before Mayor Callow—His Wants Supplied—He Reappears as a Prisoner—A Strange Life History.

Yesterday morning Mayor Callow was quietly seated in his elegant private office enjoying a fragrant Havana, when a visitor was ushered in. The stranger was well advanced in years, yet hearty and rugged. His appearance was that of one who had passed through rough times in his life wanderings, and his story was corroborative of it. He was without home or money, he said, and needed assistance. With his accustomed generosity, the magistrate responded to his request and dismissed him with a supply of lucre. About half an hour afterwards a farmer from Portersville, Butler county, came in and made information setting forth that one Schamberlin Sowatisky had stolen from him an overcoat and a pair of boots. An officer with the farmer went in search of the accused, and returned during the afternoon with him—the visitor of the morning.

Schamberlin was inclined to be loquacious upon his second appearance before his Honor, and placed in the official hands a small bundle of manuscript, accompanying it with a brief biography of himself. He was a Polander, born in 1791, he said, and had served with the Great Napoleon in his campaigns against Russia and Prussia from 1812 to 1814. He had also been engaged in the Polish revolution which resulted in the complete dismemberment of his land. In 1851 he came to America as an exile, landing here Nov. 17. Since that time he led a romantic life, and had been gradually losing ground until reduced to the necessity of stealing. The old gentleman was quite excited at times, and in his broken English related his story with fervor.

The package which he had was then examined and found to contain a quantity of letters, nearly all of which were written in a foreign language. A complete history of the early struggles of Poland was found written in English, and very well arraying and stated. There was a promissory note for $50 signed by Samuel Hamilton, of Freedom, and marked paid.

He seemed to be quite anxious for the preservation of the papers and cautioned the Mayor to keep them safe. A cell in the lock-up was his lodging place last night and this morning he will have a hearing.

FRAKLIN.

[Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

FRANKKIN, Nov. 18, 1870.

Snow, snow, snow, mud, mud, mud, with first class indications of Squaw winter. For the information of your many readers I will state that this, one of the oldest settled towns in the Western country, is located on the Allegheny river at the mouth of French creek, one hundred and forty miles by river, seventy miles over-land and one hundred and thirty-five miles by the Allegheny Valley Railroad from your Smoky City. All of the original houses have been demolished, except three, one log and two stone mansions. The Court-house is a first class, substantially constructed and handsomely finished building, that is a credit to the county and every person connected with the getting of it up. There are a few good private dwellings being finished. Thomas Chess, formerly of your county, is commencing an elegant mansion on the bank of the river below the Court-house, which will be an ornament to the city. With malice toward none, with charity for all

I remain yours, truly,
CHAPULTEPEC.

FIRE ON NEVILLE ISLAND.

A School House and Dwelling House Burned—Loss $1,500.

About four o'clock yesterday morning a fire occurred on Neville Island, in the Ohio river, by which the school house and a small frame house adjoining were burned. The alarm was given and the residents of the island were soon assembled around the burning building, but were unable to check the progress of the flames, and in a few moments both buildings, being frame, were consumed by the devouring element. The fire originated in the school building, from a defective flue, it is supposed. The frame dwelling was owned by Mr. Archy Hamilton. The loss on both buildings will not exceed $1,500. A new school building will be erected immediately.

Hespenheide & Co.

Any of our gentlemen readers who have not yet laid in a winter supply of clothing, will be reminded of their remissness should the nipping weather of the past few days continue, when prices would advance. To secure bargains and to properly fit themselves out, we would advise all to drop into the establishment of Messrs. Wm. Hespenheide & Co. and make their selections. They will find that it is not possible to obtain better or more fashionably made suits anywhere than those which are turned out from this house. The house is noted for the handsome, comfortable and durable goods which can always be obtained there.

A more complete and perfect stock of material from which to make a selection, has never been offered in the city. Suits will be promptly made up in the most fashionable style, and at reasonable prices. Gentlemen will economize by calling at Hespenheide & Co.'s for winter suits.

A DOUBLE CRUSOE.

Two Men for a Month on a Desert Island.

A telegram stated a few days ago that the Government steamer Napoleon III, left Quebec for the Lower St. Lawrence on lighthouse service. The Quebec Chronicle says the principal object of the mission is to remove two men from the Bird Rocks, in the Gulf, who have been on this desolate little island for more than a month without being able to obtain the slightest assistance, although several attempts have been made. The rocks are over seventy feet high, and to reach the summit the visitor must climb two perpendicular ladders over thirty feet each, an operation attended with considerable risk and trouble. At the base of the island large sharply-cut boulders of black stone are scattered at irregular distances, against which and the rock itself, the waves, when the sea is running high, with tremendous violence and force. In launching a boat from the rocks a calm day must be selected, and even then, the greatest caution observed, owing to the great under swell, which is almost as dangerous as the high running sea. One of the Government schooners in the fishery protection service made several attempts last week to reach the unfortunate occupants of this Robinson Crusoe island, but failed; and, in addition, the commander—to save his vessel—ordered the crew to throw all the provisions overboard, with which it was intended to replenish the exhausted stock on the island. The steamship Lady Head also made an attempt, but was also unsuccessful to reach the charmed spot. It is decided now that a final effort will be made to reach the rock, and for that purpose a first-class outfit of boats, gearings, and other required appurtenances have been provided; and in the event of the attempt proving a failure, it is decided to pull the men away from it through the water by means of ropes tied around their bodies. Three of the boats of the Lady Head were smashed to pieces, and the occupants with the greatest trouble escaped with their lives. Mr. Tomlinson, Chief Engineer of the Marine and fisheries Department, visits the locality on board the Napoleon, and as this gentleman is possessed of excellent skill and judgment in his profession, it is probable that this trip will prove effective. As a last attempt, Mr. Robertson will throw a small line from the ship by means of a rocket.

AUCTION SALES.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE FOR SALE.

We will offer at Public Sale, on the premises, on Wednesday, Nov. 30, 1870, The farm of the late DANIEL WILLIAMS, deceased, containing Two Hundred Acres, situate one-fourth mile west of the Borough of Greensburg (Westmoreland county, Pa., and adjoining the Borough of Ludwick.

THIS IS ONE OF THE Finest Farms in the County, either for grain or grazing—a rare chance for any one desiring to purchase a farm near market. It is UNDERLAID WITH COAL and LIMESTONE, and is well watered, having a spring in almost every field. It contains from forty to fifty acres of most excellent timber, and a quantity of good BUILDING STONE. The farm will be sold either in whole or in parts to suit purchasers; If sold in parts, it would make three excellent little farms, ranging in size from forty to ninety acres, each of which would be well provided with Woodland and Meadow. The improvements are a DWELLING HOUSE, STONE BANK BARN, Stone Spring House, and other outbuildings, Fruit Trees, etc., etc.

ALSO, At the same time there will be sold about TWENTY ACRES OF LAND, situate within one-half mile of the farm, the greater portion of which is covered with fine timber. A stream of water runs through both these tracts.

ALSO, At the same time there will be sold another small tract of land, containing about TEN ACRES underlaid with coal, situate on the Pennsylvania Railroad, one mile west of Greensburg.

The soil of these different tracts of land is of the best quality. Terms moderate. For further particulars, call at the office of HUNTER & BEAUMONT, Greensburg, Pa.

JAMES A. HUNTER, JANE WILLIAMS, Executors of Daniel Williams, dec'd.

A portion of the farm offered for sale could be laid out in TOWN LOTS, which would command ready sales at advanced prices. The late Westmoreland County Fair was held on this farm. no5:g56-8
